FIERCE BATTLE DEVELOPS BELOW AACHEN; 5 JAP SHIPS HIT, 191 PLANES DESTROYED

YANKS AND NAZIS LOCKED IN BITTER STRUGGLE FOR 3 VILLAGES IN REICH

Allies Advance in Vosges — Win Heights Along French - Italian Border — Walcheren Fighting Near End.

By WILLIAM FRYE

LONDON, Nov. 7 (AP). — A fierce, swaying battle raging today in the center of Vossenack, strategic town barring the American path to the Cologne plain, with doughboys holding the south end of the mile-and-a-half long village 13 miles southeast of Aachen.

Germans and Americans were fighting hand-to-hand in a church in the center of Vossenack, and bombers and artillery were beating at Nazis in houses in the northern section, a front dispatch said.

A Supreme Headquarters dispatch earlier said First Army troops had won back all of the town, lost to a German counter-attack Monday, but front dispatches said fighting of unexcelled bitterness continued there and near the flanking towns of Hurtgen and Schmidt.

"The Germans have strengthened the already formidable forces they had in Vossenack," said an Associated Press correspondent just outside the town, "and now the struggle is as savage as was the struggle for Aachen, and one of much greater scope."

German strength also was built up around Nazi-held Schmidt, 15 miles southeast of Aachen. Vossenack, Schmidt and Hurtgen were strongpoints of the German Roer River line barring the way to the Cologne plain.

To the south, American and French forces in bitter fighting advanced two to three miles toward Vosges passes to Germany. In Holland, a front dispatch reported capture of the ferry terminus of Willemstad, leaving only scattered enemy troops below the Maas River. The German high

660,000 NAZIS CAPTURED IN WEST; U. S. FIRST ARMY LEADING WITH 200,000

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Paris, Nov. 7 (AP).

SEVEN Allied armies have taken more than 660,000 German prisoners since D-day, a recapitulation showed today.

Figures for the Twelfth and Twenty-first Army groups up to midnight Nov. 5-6, and for the Sixth Army Group and the United States Ninth Army up to Oct. 27, show:

Twelfth Army Group—United States First Army, 200,138; United States Third Army, 102,523.

Twenty-first Army Group—Canadian First Army, 92,305; British Second Army, 86,269; not credited to either army but in army group pens, 20,000.

Sixth Army Group—French First Army, 57,939; United States Seventh Army, 50,916.

Brittany—United States Ninth Army, 50,000.

The Sixth Army Group's totals now are probably appreciably higher, because it has been on the attack in the Vosges Mountains since its totals were compiled.

AMERICAN DRIVE ON LEYTE ROLLING AHEAD UNCHECKED

24th Division Beats Off Three Banzai Charges, Punches Past Limon Toward Ormoc.

By C. YATES McDANIEL

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Nov. 7 (AP).—American veterans, already four miles south of Carigara bay, continued an unchecked advance today through Japanese mountain defenses on the twisting highway toward Ormoc and the finale of the Leyte Island campaign.

Ormoc, last Japanese stronghold on the island, was 16 miles away after the determined Twenty-fourth Division beat off three night counterattacks and punched beyond Limon, on the mountain pass road.

Well-equipped Japanese reinforcements were somewhere along the shell-raked highway through Ormoc valley, waiting perhaps to launch a final attack which is expected to produce some of the campaign's fiercest battling.

Three Banzai Charges.

While these fresh troops waited, infantrymen of the original Japanese garrison swarmed from strong hill positions in three fanatical, banzai charges against the American perimeter four miles from the coast.

The chanting, shrieking, Banzai-yelling Japanese all were repulsed bloodily without denting the American lines.

Some units of the Twenty-fourth Division, trapped by Japanese, suffered heavy casualties as the Nipponese brought captured Yank machine guns into action against them yesterday near Pinamopoan.

The American units were encircled after they had penetrated the ridge country and a tiny wind-

HALSEY'S FLYERS SINK SUBCHASER, BLAST AIRFIELDS IN PHILIPPINES

Heavy Cruiser Left Burning and in Sinking Condition — Several Cargo Vessels Damaged in Manila Harbor.

UNITED STATES PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, Nov. 7 (AP).—Planes of the United States Third Fleet, in attacks on Japanese shipping and air bases in the Philippines, damaged five warships and several cargo ships, sank a submarine chaser and destroyed 191 enemy aircraft in the air and on the ground, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced yesterday.

The damaged enemy warships included a heavy cruiser set afire and left in a sinking condition by bomb and torpedo hits, a light cruiser, three destroyers and an unspecified number of cargo vessels. The vessels were surprised in Manila Harbor Sunday (Philippines time). The submarine chaser was sunk off Lubang Island, southeast of Luzon.

The raid by Adm. William F. Halsey's airmen raised to at least 66 the total enemy warships sunk or damaged since Gen. Douglas MacArthur landed Oct. 20 in the central Philippines.

Airfields Hard Hit.

Equally important in relation to the invasion operations on Leyte, the Clark, Batangas, Lipa, Legaspi and Lubang airfields were attacked. From these fields, together with others under assault by MacArthur's land-based bombers on Cebu and Negros, the Japanese have been launching air attacks against Yank air bases and docks on Leyte.

Fifty-eight out of 80 enemy planes were shot out of the sky over Clark Field by day and three more at night. Twenty-five enemy planes were shot down elsewhere over Luzon and five while seeking to attack the carriers. In all, 91 Japanese planes were shot down.

More than 100 enemy aircraft were wiped out on the ground.

The Japanese air force showed less and less fight as the day wore on. Only light opposition was met over Manila while the heavy blows were being struck at shipping on the harbor.

U. S. Losses Not Given.

"Our losses have not yet been reported," Adm. Nimitz's communique said.

Preliminary reports of damage to ground installations were rather meager, but Nimitz listed these:

At Clark Field, oil storage areas, shops and hangars bombed and set afire.

At Batangas, Lipa, Legaspi and Lubang Fields ground installations heavily damaged.

Land-based planes meantime struck Japanese bases from the northern Kuriles to Nauru, blasting airfields, ground installations and attacking two 180-foot transports at Chichi Island in the Bonins, south of Japan. Results of the bombing of the transports

TODAY'S WAR NEWS

LONDON—Fighting for towns of Vossenack, Hurtgen and Schmidt, all southeast of Aachen, grows into large-scale battle; Allies advance in Vosges, take high ground on French-Italian border; fighting south of Maas and on Walcheren virtually at end; record air assault on Germany halted by weather following R. A. F. night attack on Coblenz.

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor—Adm. Nimitz announces that Third Fleet planes damaged and probably sank another Japanese heavy cruiser, damaged four other enemy warships, destroyed 191 planes and sank a submarine chaser in the Philippines; Japanese air bases and installations heavily damaged in aerial assault.

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines — American troops roll unchecked through Japanese defense positions on road to Ormoc after beating off three enemy banzai charges; Japanese apparently holding back Leyte reinforcements for showdown battle.

SAN FRANCISCO — Japanese radio says B-29 Superfortresses appeared over Tokyo today for the third time in week, but dropped no bombs; enemy broadcast also reports raid on Volcano islands by 40 Superfortresses.

MOSCOW—Stalin in order of day to Red Army on Soviet anniversary predicts fall of Hungary soon, says Russians and Western Allies "have taken up jumping off positions for the decisive offensive against the vital centers of Germany;" Red troops battling Germans two miles from Nazi airport at Budapest.

ROME—Polish troops of British Eighth Army capture two mountain towns in Italy; rest of Italian front quiet.

HUNGARY TO FALL SOON, DECLARES STALIN; BUDAPEST ATTACK PRESSED

Russians and Allies Ready for Decisive Drive Against Germany, Says Premier in Order of Day.

LONDON, Nov. 7 (AP).—Red Army troops battled strongly reinforced German forces in the outskirts of Budapest today, spurred by Premier-Marshal Stalin's pronouncement that Hungary would soon be out of the war.

In an order of the day, issued on this twenty-seventh anniversary of the Soviet revolution, Stalin declared the Red Army and its Western Allies "have taken up the jumping off positions for the decisive offensive against the vital centers of Germany" and that "we now stand on the eve of complete victory."

Russian columns were fighting within two miles south of the big Nazi-operated Ferihegy airdrome in Budapest's outskirts, apparently trying to circle around the eastern part of the city.

2,000,000 German Losses.

Stalin's announcement last night of enemy losses in the summer offensive, along with official statements from the western and southern fronts, shows Germany has suffered at least 2,044,090 casualties in the last half year. The casualties are listed as follows:

Russia	790,000
Western Front	1,060,090
Italy	194,000
Total	2,044,090

Actual enemy losses may be a great deal higher. Stalin, reporting the 790,000 Germans killed or captured in White Russia and in "the battle of the south," made no estimate of German wounded and it was not clear whether the 790,000 included all sectors of the long eastern front. Stalin said 120 German divisions had been smashed during the year, an indicated enemy loss of 1,200,000 men.

In a proclamation preceding the order of the day, Stalin asserted that the defeat of Hungary would signify the "complete isolation of Hitlerite Germany, and early catastrophe will follow inevitably."

Soviet Communique Brief.

Last night's regular Soviet communique broadcast from Moscow contained only two sentences: "There were no essential changes on the fronts. During Nov. 5 our troops on all fronts disabled or destroyed 16 tanks."

In a dawn to dusk attack yesterday Soviet bombers hammered the enemy's defense belt and communications at the rear of the Hungarian capital. Budapest reports via Turkey said there was no intention of declaring the beautiful city on the Danube an open one.

"The Soviet state frontier," Stalin's order of the day said, "treacherously violated by the Hitlerite hordes on June 22, 1941, has been restored along its whole

WOMAN ENDING LIFE WITH GAS CAUSES $20,000 EXPLOSION

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP).—A woman was killed last night in an explosion that shook a New York apartment building, wrecking three apartments and shattering windows on 15 floors of the 17-story, 400-apartment structure.

Police identified the woman as Mrs. Erika De Balogh, in whose fifteenth floor apartment they said they found five gas jets open on the kitchen range. Police listed the case as "an apparent suicide."

Sidney Crystal, part owner of the building, reported that between 60 and 70 apartments were damaged by the explosion and estimated the loss as "over $20,000." Fire that followed the explosion was quickly put out.

ROOSEVELT VOTES AT HYDE PARK AS 'TREE GROWER'

Wife, Daughter and Young Grandson Accompany Him to Polls in Old Town Hall.

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Nov. 7 (AP).—President Roosevelt — "occupation, tree grower"—cast ballot No. 251 in Hyde Park's old town hall shortly after noon today.

The President drove to the town hall from his nearby estate with Mrs. Roosevelt, who followed him into the voting booth. Their daughter, Mrs. Ann Boettiger and her five-year-old son, Johnny, were along for the ride.

After the President voted he stood before the voting booth and posed for photographers.

Before he showed up to vote Roosevelt paid a call at the Hyde Park elementary school where the children sang for him.

"You weren't here four years ago," he told them, "you weren't old enough then."

As the Chief Executive entered the town hall Miss Mildred Todd, election inspector in charge of the registration book, asked his name, address and ocupation.

"Tree grower," said the President. "What did I say last time?"

The election offficial told him he was a tree grower at the last election and the President, chuckling, said that's right. For some elections he has given his occupation as a farmer.

With the formalities of his voting qualifications out of the way, Miss Todd—seemingly a bit nervous—held a box of candy before the President.

"Would you like a piece of candy?" she asked.

"Thanks very much, I will," the President replied, and popped it into his mouth. He went into the booth munching the candy.

The hall grew quiet as the green curtain closed around the Presi-

RUSH TO POLLS IN COUNTY; 59.5 PCT. IN BY 3:30 O'CLOCK

First Returns From Election

Dewey 4453, F. D. R. 3031 in Kansas

TOPEKA, Kan., Nov. 7 (AP).—Incomplete returns today from 83 of the 2750 precincts in Kansas gave for President: Dewey, 4453; Roosevelt, 3031.

Most of these returns are from the larger cities in the State, where watchers for candidates may announce the vote totals as they are counted.

Service Vote Splits 130-120.

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Nov. 7 (AP).—The first 250 servicemen's absentee ballots counted for Hunterdon County gave President Roosevelt and Senator Truman 130 votes to 120 for Gov. Dewey and Bricker, it was unofficially reported today.

In 1940 the county's total vote was 10,293 for Willkie against 7886 for Roosevelt.

Mashpee Stands Firm.

BOSTON, Nov. 7 (AP). —The complete election vote of the Cape Cod town of Mashpee, which has never voted in favor of a Democratic President, today gave Gov. Dewey 89 ballots against 81 for President Roosevelt. Maspee's 1940 population was 434.

In 1940, Mashpee gave Willkie 97 votes to 89 for Roosevelt.

State Republican candidates also were favored in Mashpee today.

Across the state in the Berkshire Hills region of western Massachusetts, the small town of Mt. Washington completed its tabulation. The total cast was 37 compared with 42 in 1940. Dewey received 29 ballots and Roosevelt 8.

Always Republican, Mt. Washington in 1940 gave Willkie 32 votes and Roosevelt 10.

Dewey today polled 22 votes in Politicians Expect 337,000 to Go to Polls in St. Louis, 120,000 in Suburban, Rural Areas.

Voting was heavy in St. Louis and St. Louis County today, in the election for President and congressional, state and local offices. Indications were that the practical maximum of civilian registered voters might cast ballots.

Canvasses of sample precincts in the city and county supported this conclusion.

A city canvass, at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, indicated that a vote of 222,800 had been cast up to that hour throughout St. Louis. This was 58.3 per cent of the registration of 382,016.

If the balloting continued for the remaining three and one-half hours of the voting day at the average hourly rate up to that time, the total city vote would be about 304,000, but it was apparent that there had been some slackening in midafternoon and might be some pickup in the closing hours.

In St. Louis County at 3:30 o'clock a canvass indicated a vote of 81,600, or 59.5 per cent of the registration of 137,079. Continuation of voting there at the same hourly average rate would result in a fina lfigure of about 111,600, but the same factors of slackening and quickening doubtless will prevail.

From All Sections.

From nearly every section of the city and county there were reports of heavy voting in most precincts during the morning and early afternoon, in contrast with the experience of most recent major elections here, in which a rather large porportion of the electorate has been accustomed to vote after work in the last few

Traditional Scrambled Egg Snack For Roosevelts as Returns Come In

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Nov. 7 (AP). — Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt planned an early dinner for her family and later a scrambled egg snack as the traditional election night fare at the Roosevelt Hyde Park mansion. She said the household would spend the evening listening to election returns and that she would "stay up as late as the President."

Her daughter, Mrs. John Boettiger, and 5-year-old grandson, Johnny, were the only other members of the family present. The four Roosevelt sons in the armed forces are out of the country.

Mrs. Roosevelt once remarked that scrambled eggs is a favorite dish of the President's and that election day at their home is "arranged the way he wants it."

Village neighbors were expected to drop in during the evening, as they have in past years, to mingle with political associates and Washington friends.

Missing from tonight's gathering will be the President's mother, Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt, who died in 1941. She had been with the President—usually the center of the family circle—every election night since first he ran for public office.

VOTERS LINE UP; 65 PCT. OF BRONX AND MANHATTAN TOTAL IN BY NOON

Pennsylvania May Equal 1940—Big Ohio Rural Turnout — Strong Illinois Vote — Michigan Ignores Rain.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP).—Fast and furious voting the country over piled up a record number of ballots by early afternoon today and pointed toward a record total of 50 million.

As never before, the men and women who had the final say-so on the argument over a fourth term for President Roosevelt or a first for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, hurried to the polls to register their decision.

(Political observers say a heavy vote favors Roosevelt and a light vote indicates a Dewey trend.)

In New York's Bronx and Manhattan districts, 65 to 70 per cent of the registered vote was cast by 3 p. m. It was much the same in other big cities and rural districts as well, with few exceptions.

Some New Hampshire voters had to slog through heavy snow to get to the polls, but in nearly all parts of the nation the weather favored a heavy turnout.

Voting Is Orderly.

Despite the emotions stirred by the first wartime election since 1864, voting was orderly on the whole.

Six persons were arrested in New York County on charges of illegal registration. They were among 400 indicted last week on that charge.

Reports of heavy voting came from predominantly Republican upstate New York, where G. O. P. party leaders pin their hopes on building up a plurality to overcome a Democratic edge south of the Bronx county line.

A heavy vote in key Pennsylvania in the presidential election was indicated by lines at polling places in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and other industrial areas.

Voters stood 40 to 60 deep waiting in the first few hours in the two metropolitan areas, bringing predictions from party leaders that the total might equal the 1940 record, when 82 per cent of the registered vote was cast.

Some rural sections reported light early balloting but clear, cool weather was expected to bring out a large vote in those sections before the polls close.

Lines at Michigan Polls.

Despite light rain that overspread much of the state, Michigan voters stood in line to cast their ballots, producing what some election officials described as the greatest early voting rush in the State's history.

A new voting record appeared certain in Detroit, where Oakley E. Distin, supervisor of elections, viewed the early rush and pre-

FINAL ODDS ON ROOSEVELT 1 TO 4; 'A TERRIFIC LOT' OF MONEY REPORTED BET

The betting odds on President Roosevelt have shortened to such an extent in the last few days, Betting Commissioner James J. Carroll said today, that "it's beginning to look like propaganda when I put them out."

Carroll, who said there had been a "terrific lot" of money wagered on the outcome of today's balloting, quoted odds of 3½ to 1 on Gov. Dewey and 1 to 4 on the President, which meant that bettors would have to put up $4 to win $1 on Roosevelt and $1 to win $3.50 on Dewey.

Carroll's odds for the race in Missouri were 4 to 5 on Roosevelt and even money on Dewey, and for Illinois 5 to 7 on Roosevelt and 6 to 5 on Dewey.

Odds in the national election quoted Saturday by Carroll were 2½ to 1 on Dewey and 5 to 18 on Roosevelt. Ten days ago the odds were the same on Roosevelt and 3 to 1 on Dewey.

STALIN'S SPEECH RENEWS TALK OF RUSSIAN AID IN WAR WITH JAPAN

U. S. Officials Hope No Premature Move Will Be Made—Speculation Ranges From Bases to Actual Fighting.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP).—Premier Stalin's frank discussion of Japan as an aggressive nation renewed speculation today that at the strategic moment the Soviet Union will make available some of its resources to the Allies of the Pacific-Asiatic war.

This might range all the way from the use of bases to full participation. That help in some form will be forthcoming has long been assumed by informed persons here. However, there is no evidence in any quarter that Stalin has communicated his plans regarding Japan to Washington and London.

Allied authorities, and particularly those in Washington, hope no action will be taken prematurely, for in some respects Russia's position in northeast Asia is even more vulnerable than Japan's. Its territories in the maritime provinces and Kamchatka Peninsula apparently would be difficult to defend in event the Japanese were in position to react strongly. That is the reason that during the summer of 1942 a Japanese attack on Russia was constantly in the forefront of possible war developments. Tokyo was winning then and could afford to dream of new conquests.

Red Forces Kept in Siberia.

The Russians are known to have kept substantial forces of troops in Siberia throughout the war. In turn they tied up at least comparable Japanese forces. The Japanese are reported to have used the Russian front as a breaking-in ground for new troops as well as a station for some of their best units. The Russians probably have followed the same policy.

The Soviet Union's Pacific plans will become of even greater importance if China's place in the Allied effort is thrown further off balance by internal difficulties and enemy attacks. Russian bases would support heavy air assaults on the heart of Japan; Russian ports might facilitate an assault on the enemy's northern flank. In turn the Soviets would earn for themselves a place with the victors in deciding the future of the western Pacific world.

Reaction to Peace Statement.

Stalin's speech drew a favorable reaction in Washington, largely because of its emphasis on cooperation among the great powers for the establishment of a secure peace.

There is a strong conviction here that the Soviet Government intends to play ball with the other Allied nations, but there is almost constant fear that its brusque methods of joining in the game may cost more friendship than good intentions buy.

Official reaction bounces between hope and apprehension. Thus Stalin's words tended for the moment to put down uneasiness aroused by Moscow's loud insistence on oil concessions in Iran and the beating administered to the present Iranian Government by the Moscow press.

His insistence that the existence of differences among London, Washington and Moscow is not so amazing as "how small they are and how well they are solved peacefully," sounded very much like comments which have been made by Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt. This line suggested that there might be less difficulty than some United Nations diplomats have feared in arriving at a solution of the single remaining major problem for world organization.

Russia Important Link.

There has been growing uneasiness on the part of some of these officials that the choice might be between giving in to Russia's insistence on a veto for each great power on security issues involving itself, or else simply counting Russia out of the picture, which would effectively kill the organization.

Actually recent Soviet diplomatic developments set against Stalin's speech appear to illustrate what most authorities here have held as a basic view—that the Russians are following a dual foreign policy designed to provide them maximum security regardless of how the plans for world peace organization come out.

It would appear that Soviet policy calls for full co-operation with the United States and Britain in the interest of peace and security; at the same time demonstrations against Iran, recent criticism of the governments of Spain, Portugal and Switzerland as pro-Fascist and policies with respect to Poland and other eastern European countries are designed to surround the U.S.S.R. with friendly territories and promote pro-Soviet governments elsewhere in Europe.

Hint of Assistance Against Japan, One View in London.

LONDON, Nov. 7 (AP).—Premier Stalin's reference to Japan as an aggressor nation was welcomed in some quarters here as an indication of possible Russian aid in the war in the Far East when Germany is defeated.

While official sources refrained from comment, there appeared to be a feeling elsewhere that Stalin was setting the stage for some later Soviet move.

"He (Stalin) ranges his great country beside Britain and America not only now, while the task of destroying Nazism in Europe is yet in hand, but in their future undertakings for the ending of aggression in the world," said Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express.

Warmly welcomed here also were Stalin's acknowledgements of Allied military help and his praise of the Western front invasion and its effect.

An hour after Stalin had ended his speech the German news agency issued an 82-word summary which included the sentence that the Allied armies would "raise the flag of victory over Berlin."

Boxes indicate the division of German strength as reported by Premier-Marshal Stalin in an address at a Moscow celebration in connection with the twenty-seventh anniversary of the Russian revolution. Arrows mark main Allied drives in the "squeeze" on Germany from the east, west and south which has brought Hitler's domain to "the verge of catastrophe," according to the Russian leader. Shaded lines are approximate battlefronts.

Pearl Harbor Cited as Example of Dangers From Such States — Germany Already Planning New War, He Warns.

MOSCOW, Nov. 7 (AP).—Premier Stalin branded Japan and Germany as "aggressive nations" last night and declared that such nations must be disarmed completely by a postwar organization established "to defend peace and insure security."

"As history shows, aggressive nations—nations which attack—are usually more prepared for a new war than peace-loving nations," the Marshal said in an address on the eve of the twenty-seventh anniversary of the Russian revolution. "This means that the aggressive nations in this war already before the outbreak of war had an invasion army ready, while the peace-loving nations did not even have fully satisfactory armies at the crisis of mobilization.

"It cannot be considered accidental that such unpleasant facts occurred as the incident at Pearl Harbor, the loss of the Philippines and other islands of the Pacific Ocean, the loss of Hongkong and Singapore, when Japan, as an aggressive nation, proved more prepared for war than Great Britain and the United States which pursued a policy of peace.

"Neither can we consider accidental such an unpleasant fact as the loss of the Ukraine, White Russia and the Baltic, during the first year of war, when Germany, as an aggressive nation, proved more prepared for war than the peace-loving Soviet Union.

"It would be naive to explain these facts by the personal qualities of the Japanese and Germans, their superiority over the British, Americans and Russians."

"It is known to all the German leaders are already preparing for a new war," Stalin said. "History points to the fact that a short period—20 to 30 years—is sufficient for Germany to recover from defeat and to restore her power."

He asserted Germany must be "disarmed both in the economic and military-political respects."

"Peace-loving nations may again find themselves taken unawares by aggression, of course, if they do not work out now special measures capable of averting aggression," Stalin said. "There are such means for this purpose. Apart from complete disarmament of the aggressive nations, there is only one means, namely, to create a special organization to defend peace and insure security, composed of representatives of freedom loving nations, to put at the disposal of the leading organ of such an organization the essential amount of armed force required to avert aggression, and, in case of necessity, to punish those guilty of aggression."

Stalin delivered his speech before members of the Political Bureau, the Communist party organization, the Moscow Soviet and labor leaders. It was termed "a solemn meeting," but Stalin received two long, ringing ovations. He appeared more at ease than at any previous pre-holiday speech during the war. His voice was firm and strong and he spoke with great deliberateness, never indulging in forensics.

On Nov. 7, 1917, the military revolutionary committee of Petrograd (now Leningrad) seized authority in Russia. The next day, the all-Russian Congress of Soviets replaced the provisional government which had been established by Alexander Kerensky after the downfall of the Czar.

ROOSEVELT SEES EARLY NAZI DEFEAT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP).—President Roosevelt, in a message on the 27th anniversary of the Russian Revolution, yesterday predicted the "early defeat of the Nazi aggressors" and the attainment of a lasting peace.

The President wired President Mikhail Kalinin of the Soviet Union:

"It gives me great pleasure on this national anniversary of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics to send greetings to you and to the people of the Soviet Union.

"At this fateful time when the Red Army and the Armies of the United States and other United Nations are on German soil, we can look forward with even greater confidence to the early defeat of the Nazi aggressors and the attainment of our common goal—a durable and just peace and continuance of close collaboration between all the United Nations."

Acting Secretary of State Stettinius wired Foreign Commissar Molotov "sincere felicitations" and likewise spoke of an early victory and "the establishment of an enduring and just peace built upon the firm foundations of co-operation and mutual understanding which have been wrought so firmly in the crucible of war."

VODKA PRICES CUT 25 PCT. AS RUSSIANS MARK ANNIVERSARY

Tobacco Costs Fall and Children Get Special Ration of Sweets.

MOSCOW, Nov. 7 (AP).—Vodka prices went down 25 per cent today as Russia celebrated the twenty-seventh anniversary of the revolution. Cigarette and tobacco prices tumbled also.

The gilded domes of the Kremlin were polished for the occasion.

Hardly a Muscovite home failed to fly a Red banner.

State stores issued special candy and cooky rations to children from seven months to 12 years of age.

Bands paraded through the streets. Marching groups swung by from time to time, but the general idea was group singing and the hit tunes were "Moscow, My Moscow" and "Beloved City."

As part of the celebration, Premier Joseph Stalin ordered the firing tonight of 24 salvos in Moscow, Leningrad, Kiev, Minsk, Petrozavodsk, Tallinn, Riga, Wilno, Chisinau, Tbilisi, Sevastopol and Lwow.

NAZIS USING JET PLANES AGAINST NIGHT FIGHTERS

PARIS, Nov. 7 (AP).—The Germans are using jet and rocket-propelled planes and other "new-fangled" gadgets against Allied night fighters, Lt. Col. Oris B. Johnson, commander of a P-61 Black Widow group, said today.

"In recent nights we've counted 15 to 20 jet planes," Johnson said. "They sometimes fly in formations of four, but more often they fly alone."

Johnson described a new kind of flak which he said might be a phosphorous bomb.

"It exploded in a large ball of fire at 10,000 feet and I could see drops of fire dripping away from it," he said. "The same ball of fire exploded several times, each time at a lower altitude."

26,000 TONS OF SUPPLIES FLOWN TO ARMY IN 14 DAYS

NINTH UNITED STATES CARRIER HEADQUARTERS, England, Nov. 7 (AP).—Twin-engined C-47 skytrains hauled almost 26,000 tons of supplies to the First Allied Airborne army in Holland from Sept. 17 to Oct. 31, it was announced last night, and the opening of Antwerp harbor will free the fleet for use elsewhere.

Maj. Gen. Paul L. Williams' headquarters said that in the same period, marked by bad flying weather, 26,000 wounded were evacuated to hospitals in England.

U. S. ELECTION MAJOR TOPIC IN BUENOS AIRES PAPERS

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 7—The press of Buenos Aires for several weeks has been devoting columns of space to the United States presidential election and editions yesterday carried headlines such as "Yankee election affects world destiny."

Most of the newspapers carried maps of the United States showing the distribution of electoral votes as well as biographical sketches of President Roosevelt and Thomas E. Dewey.

In editorials, the United States was praised for practicing democracy by holding elections despite the war.

B-29S OVER TOKYO 3D TIME IN WEEK, JAPANESE REPORT

No Bombs Dropped — Broadcast Says 40 Superforts Raided Iwo Island Sunday.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 7 (AP).—American Superfortresses were over Tokyo and the industrial Kanto area today for the third time within a week, the Tokyo radio reported. No bombs were dropped.

The same broadcast said 40 B29s raided Iwo in the Volcano Islands, 750 miles south of Tokyo, Sunday.

The radio said two B29s flew over the main Japanese Honshu island's Kanto region for an hour "for reconnaissance purposes."

Warning to People.

Japanese propagandists warned that the B29s would return in force to bomb Tokyo and other sections of the Kanto area which roughly covers the eastern half of Honshu. Broadcasts said:

"We need further rigid guard against the plans of the enemy."

American sources have not confirmed any of the three reported reconnaissance flights. The first was reported by Tokyo Nov. 1 and the second Nov. 5.

The broadcast said the planes which came over Honshu and those which attacked Iwo came from the Marianas. One of the Superforts attacking Iwo was damaged, the Japanese claimed.

Bonins Raid Reported.

Haha and Chichi islands in the Bonins, 615 miles southeast of Tokyo, were attacked yesterday by American Liberators, the Japanese reported. They said "several tens of planes" were involved. Japanese Imperial headquarters claimed Japanese planes raided Saipan and Tinian islands in the Marianas at dawn today (Japanese time), destroying 20 American planes and starting fires at Saipan. Results at Tinian were unobserved because of cloud formations. The Japanese admitted one plane failed to return from the raid.

The Marianas raids were not confirmed by American sources.

Churchill Says "Very Searching Inquiries" Will Be Made.

LONDON, Nov. 7 (AP).—Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons today that "very searching inquiries" would be made into the assassination of Lord Moyne.

Parliament and the nation, Churchill said, had suffered a "very heavy loss." He said he had received no official information fixing the authorship of the crime, or giving a clew to its motives, but that the Egyptian Government had stated the assassins were not Egyptian subjects.

Churchill said Lord Moyne had devoted himself this year to a solution of the Zionist problem, and declared the Jews in Palestine "had rarely lost a better or more well-informed friend."

Lord Strabolgi, president of the newly-formed League to Promote Dominion Status for Palestine, said "it is far more probable to my mind that Lord Moyne was murdered by Nazi agents."

LORD MOYNE DIES OF WOUNDS; TWO ASSASSINS HELD

Officials Blame Jewish Terrorists in Killing of British Resident Minister in Cairo.

CAIRO, Nov. 7 (AP). — Lord Moyne, British Resident Minister in the Middle East, who was shot by two men yesterday as he stepped from his automobile at his residence, died several hours later at a hospital. He was 64 years old.

Officials said the assassins were Jewish terrorists. Both were captured, and one was wounded by a constable as he fled.

The motive for the attack was not known.

King Farouk visited the hospital before Lord Moyne died. Funeral arrangements have not been completed but a state funeral probably will be held.

Three British officials arrived from Palestine to investigate the assassination.

Lord Moyne was struck in the stomach and neck when his assailants emptied their revolvers at him. His military driver was killed. The two gunmen attempted to flee across the front grounds of the residence.

Lord Moyne, Walter Edward Guinness, was born in Dublin in 1880, a member of the family which manufactures the famous Guinness ale and stout. He was educated at Eton and served in the army during the Boer and First World wars. Elected a member of Parliament in 1907, he served as Under Secretary of State for War in 1922-23, Financial Secretary to the Treasury in 1923-24, Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries from 1925 to 1929, Secretary of State for Colonies in 1941-42 and was leader of the House of Lords in 1941-42. He took his post here in August, 1942.

New House of Commons Proposed

LONDON, Nov. 7 (AP). — A committee proposed today the construction of a new House of Commons costing $3,000,000 and requiring four to five years to build. The building, replacing the one bombed out, would be in late Gothic style.

BIG DANISH FERRY ESCAPES NAZIS AND GOES TO SWEDEN

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 7 (AP).—A huge Danish ferry essential to the Germans in traffic between the islands of Seeland and Fyn escaped yesterday to the Swedish port of Halsingborg instead of going to Helsingoer, a Danish port just across the channel between Denmark and Sweden, for repairs as had been scheduled.

The ferry carries 1500 passengers.

The Swedish radio said five Danish patriots had taken the ferry to Sweden after overwhelming its unarmed captain, officers and 27 crew members and escaping from a German minesweeper which had been escorting it to the repair yard.

SWISS DENY RUSSIAN CHARGES

BERN, Nov. 7 (AP).—Switzerland's federal council today denied Soviet assertions that this country had shown a hostile attitude toward Russia. This was the basis of the Soviet's refusal to resume diplomatic relations with Switzerland. The council indicated it would continue to seek such relations.

3-DAY BOMB LOAD OF 26,000 TONS DROPPED ON REICH

Record Assault Halted by Weather After R. A. F. Night Blow at Coblenz Rail Yards.

LONDON, Nov. 7 (AP). — Bad weather forced a halt today in major aerial operations against Germany after a record-breaking three-day period in which Britain-based planes dropped more than 26,000 tons of bombs on German targets. In this time 25,000 sorties were flown by American and British bombers and fighters.

Last night Royal Air Force heavy bombers attacked three railroad yards at Coblenz, Rhineland city in front of the American First and Third Armies while Mosquitoes raided Gelsenkirchen in the Ruhr.

Going out after 4000 Allied planes dumped 8000 tons of bombs on the Reich in daylight yesterday, R. A. F. pilots were told they would fly through solid overcast to the Rhine but if they arrived over Coblenz at the right moment they would have 10 minutes of good visibility. The bombers hits the spot on the dot, saturated their targets and headed home before the German defenses could hit their stride.

Yesterday's raids on Hamburg and Harburg cost the United States Eighth Air Force seven of 1100 heavy bombers and 10 of 700 fighters, but some of the latter were believed to be safe in friendly territory. The R.A.F. lost five of 700 heavy bombers in the attack on Gelsenkirchen.

The Mosquitoes over Gelsenkirchen last night found huge fires still burning from the bombs dropped by heavies yesterday afternoon.

Italian-based United States four-engine bombers numbering 650 pounded targets in the Vienna area yesterday with 350 fighters clearing the way for them over the Brenner Pass. Other heavy bombers from Italy dropped a heavy concentration of explosives on an important power station at Bolzano on the Brenner Pass railroad and hit targets in northern Yugoslavia.

DEWEY AND WIFE CAST THEIR VOTES IN NEW YORK CITY

They Take Place in Line but Crowd Steps Aside Allowing Them to Ballot Immediately.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP). — Gov. Thomas E. Dewey cast ballot No. 256 in an East Forty-eighth street polling place today and thus closed his campaign for the presidency.

The Governor, accompanied by Mrs. Dewey, arrived in New York City from Albany shortly after noon and went immediately to the polling place where a crowd applauded their arrival.

Entering an automobile tourist bureau, which serves as a temporary polling place, the Governor and Mrs. Dewey proceeded to take their place in line to await their turn for a ballot, but several persons who were standing there insisted that they vote immediately.

Stepping up to the clerk's desk, the Republican nominee, still wearing his gray topcoat, asked for a ballot. Mrs. Mary E. Dunn, election clerk, asked loudly: "Name please?"

The Governor responded "lawyer" when asked his occupation.

Mrs. Dewey Casts Ballot.

Mrs. Dewey, wearing a black coat and a black hat, with a fox scarf around her shoulders, received ballot No. 257.

While photographers took pictures, Dewey stepped to the green-curtained voting booth and cast his ballot.

Immediately after Mrs. Dewey had voted, the candidate and his wife re-entered their automobile and were driven to the Roosevelt Hotel where they expect to remain to receive the election results tonight. They probably will return to Albany tomorrow.

While the Deweys were voting a large crowd pressed noses against the plate glass front of the travel bureau.

Some of those outside rapped on the window to gain the candidate's attention, and when he turned and smiled, they clapped loudly. Although he was cheered roundly on his arrival, reporters heard some booing in the crowd.

Inside the travel bureau a line of voters, most of whom were women, stood aside while the Deweys cast their ballot.

Gray-haired Mrs. Raymond Hitchcock, who lives around the corner, said she was "thrilled" to give way to the candidate and his wife, despite the fact that she had been waiting in line for an hour and a half to cast her ballot.

One woman said she had come all the way from Pennsylvania to vote today.

Dewey came to New York to vote after urging millions of other Americans last night to exercise the same privilege to effect a "desperately needed" change in national administration.

Attacks Democrats' Contention.

In a four-chain broadcast from Albany, Dewey attacked the Democratic contention that the present administration should be continued in power because there is a war.

Devoting only 108 of the 1915 words he used in a 15-minute talk to the customary appeal for everybody to vote, he five times asked his listeners, in different language, if they would "dare" with him to make a change "when our own everyday experience and the testimony of our eyes and ears cries out that change is desperately needed."

"There has arisen in this campaign an argument that the people dare not change administrations because our country is in the midst of a great ordeal," Dewey said.

"Nothing New in Argument."

"Of course," he continued, "there is nothing new in that argument. It was used four years ago, when we were at peace. In other countries, this same argument has been the pretext upon which men originally voted into power by the people have suspended popular government and maintained themselves indefinitely in power. . . .

"In the last analysis, the whole argument comes down to a bald plea for the re-election—so long as he lives—of whoever happens to be President."

In contrast to previous practice, Dewey's speech was withheld from reporters until a few minutes before he was due to go on the air. Heretofore advance copies have been made available to the press hours beforehand.

There was no official explanation, but reporters were not contradicted by members of Dewey's staff in surmising that he wanted to listen to President Roosevelt's broadcast before releasing his own talk.

Briton Says Dewey Wants to Lead If Elected, G. O. P. Won't Let Him

London Times Correspondent Hopes for Clear Victory for Winner Today, Sees No Signs of White House Worry.

Following is the concluding part of Sir Willmott Lewis's final pre-election analysis of the Roosevelt-Dewey contest, published in the London Times. Never before, he says, has there been an American election "whose results the outer world awaited with such desperate eagerness." The correspondent cites agreement among political writers that the campaign has been one of the "dirtiest" in modern times, and the opinion of most of the writers who have taken soundings throughout the country that Roosevelt will win by "a comfortable majority." He then takes up the possibility of a close decision, like that of 1916.

By SIR WILLMOTT LEWIS
Washington Correspondent of the London Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—There are a hundred reasons why good citizens should pray for the avoidance of a neck-and-neck race this time, and chief among them is the need that the victor should have his title as clear as possible. This is even truer of Gov. Dewey than of President Roosevelt. If the Republican candidate won by a nose, it would be the nose of the isolationist section of his party, and the result might be tragic.

Dewey has every desire to be a leader, but a vigorous leader is something the great Republican machine has never sought or suffered ,and he would find this out not long after he entered the White House. Roosevelt, even though his popular majority were narrow, would carry along with him his achievement as it stands today, and this has been too massive to be dislodged by campaign attacks. It recalls, indeed, a passage from an oration of Pericles. "Men," said the great Greek, "can endure to hear others praised only so long as they can severally persuade themselves of their own ability to equal the actions recounted; when this point is passed envy comes in and with it incredulity."

Low Level of Debate.

There has been more than incredulity in much that has been said in the past months; the level of debate sank to irresponsible denigration. Some of this may have been mere desperation, for there is no doubt that Roosevelt's chances have greatly improved since he sailed out from Washington and began speaking.

The Presidency, enriched by the power of appointment it carries, is the great prize of the American party system, and when Dewey told the country that his arrival in Washington would be followed by such a "house cleaning" as had neevr before been seen, he was sounding the charge to his followers within the organization.

But victory means more to him than the office, great as this is—it means either the crown or the close of the career he has chosen, which is politics. He knew his party would not have nominated him if it had believed it could win with Gov. Bricker of Ohio. He and his immediate circle adroitly contrived that he should be "drafted," and nothing can be more certain that that a defeated draftee will never be called on again. As matters stand, he can fill out the two years that remain to him of the Governorship of New York, but no more.

Dewey for some reason has never been able to win the liking of any but the small group directly attached to him. Everybody knows what Roosevelt would be as President, and it is well to recognize that large numbers of people do not like him in that aspect at all. But nobody knows, because nobody can know, what kind of President Dewey would be, how the intimate awareness of the vast powers vested in an American chief magistrate would work on him. It is not by any means certain he would be able to get on with a Republican Congress any better than Herbert Hoover did.

For whatever reason, whether of character or of desperation, it cannot be said that Dewey has helped to hold the great election debate upon a level with the responsibilities he would have to accept if he won. He has not been willing to accept the fact that another than he was entitled to share in the acclaim of the nation's great wartime achievement as it stands visible to all the world; he has gone behind it to call in question almost every act of the man he is opposing.

Perhaps if he had mixed in with his campaigning a measure of magnanimity he could have made his victory certain. He might have read that when in 1916 a vast deal of contemptuous play was made with Woodrow Wilson's saying that a nation could be "too proud to fight," the ridicule recoiled upon those who used it.

There have been many times when Dewey was cruelly unfair, and though some may have enjoyed this, it did not raise his stature as a candidate. What was more, both he and his party were too vulnerable to encourage retort. As for mistakes in administration during the last 12 years, it would be astonishing if any man or any party should fail to make them, but on examination it appears nevertheless that these errors did not flow from indifference to the welfare of the rank and file of the American people.

Encouraging Field Reports.

On the eve of the election there are no signs in the neighborhood of the White House of any lack of confidence. It is not so much upon newspaper "polls" and their elaborate calculation of percentages that those who are actually directing the election rely, as upon reports from men actually in the field, and these have not carried discouragement in the closing weeks of the campaign.

First among the factors whereof there may be reasonable certainty is the loyalty to the President of the great majority of American workers; second are signs of a movement toward the Democratic camp of so-called "independent" voters, and nobody seems to doubt that to Roosevelt will go most of the soldier vote, though this may be wishful thinking. Finally, there never has been an American election whose results the outer world awaited with such desperate eagerness—and Americans know what other lands are hoping.

LONDON PAPERS SAY F.D.R. WILL WIN

LONDON, Nov. 7 (AP).—Most London newspapers carried stories today predicting President Roosevelt's victory over Gov. Thomas E. Dewey in the United States presidential election.

The financial Times, asserting interest in the London stock market in the election was "purely academic," said "it is taken for granted that President Roosevelt will again be returned and probably by a handsome surplus."

If Dewey is elected, it said, "there would follow a boom in American common shares. Prices would go with a bound. We should see the wild excitement to which Wall street was accustomed in prewar days."

The Communist London Daily Worker carried a front-page editorial which declared "American democracy has made some mistakes. It cannot stoop so low as to choose Dewey today."

The New York correspondent of the Daily Express, in what he termed "last minute election news—by ocean phone"—said "it looks more and more like F. D. R. again." The Daily Mail, over a page one story by its New York correspondent, placed this headline: "Eve of poll tip: F. D. R. will win—straw votes give him majority."

In afternoon papers Britain's interest in the contest shoved the war into second place. The Evening Standard said the outcome depended on the "closest voting since 1916."

The Star, only evening paper to comment editorially, declared that if Dewey wins, "the Nazis will gloat over Roosevelt's fall, but they know that Dewey will lead a nation not a whit less inflexibly resolved to crush them."

Stars and Stripes, official United States Army newspaper published in London, prepared to put out an extra edition. The American Forces Network, Army radio broadcasting to troops in the field, will stay on the air all night giving returns.

Under the headline "There are no politicians in foxholes; will it end the war? No—so vote's a minor issue at front," Stars and Stripes carried a story from the United States First Army front reporting that a large number of soldiers there did not cast ballots.

BALLOTS REFUSED FOR LACK OF CARDS OF REGISTRATION

PAC Officer Conplains of 60 Cases—Many Able to Vote Later.

Some persons who sought to vote today in the Eighteenth Ward were hampered because their registration cards were not in the precinct polling places, Adolph Nesbit, co-secretary of the Greater St. Louis Political Action Committee, complained this afternoon. He said more than 60 had been refused ballots for this reason by 1:30 o'clock.

Those who informed PAC watchers of their difficulty were taken in automobiles to the Board of Election Commissioners' office at 208 South Twelfth boulevard where it was discovered they had properly registered, but that their cards had not been sent to the polling places Nesbit said.

When the voters returned to vote with their registration cards, Nesbit said, they were permitted to vote.

Earlier today Circuit Attorney Thomas C. Hennings Jr. was unable to vote at a polling place of the Twenty-fifth Ward at the Hotel Chase Garage, because his registration card had not been forwarded to precinct election officials. He was informed that a mistake apparently had been made and would be corrected in time for him to cast his ballot.

A. Sidney Johnston, a member of the Eelection Board, referred all inquiries to George Hug, chief clerk of the board, who could not be reached immediately for an explanation.

TEXAS VOTE HEAVY; THREE ELECTORAL SLATES ON BALLOT

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 7 (AP).—Reports from over the state indicated Texans today were exercising their voting privilege in record numbers, but only from populous Harris County came any inkling as to how they were casting their ballots for federal and state officials.

The Houston Chronicle said early scattered unofficial returns gave Democratic presidential electors 736 votes to 151 for the Republicans and 308 for the Texas regulars, the anti-Roosevelt Democrats. The newspapers said voters were lining up in unprecedented numbers.

3 CHILDREN PERISH IN EAST SIDE FIRE

Parents Absent From Home —Rescue Prevented by Locked Door.

Three young Negro children were burned to death today in a fire which destroyed their home at 1935 (rear) McCasland avenue, East St. Louis, while their parents were absent.

Their father, Raymond Haywood, unemployed, was engaged as a Democratic precinct worker and their mother was working at her job in a glass plant when fire broke out in their three-room frame house.

Neighbors, who heard the children crying, were unable to break open the locked front door to enter the house before flames enveloped it. The victims were Walter Haywood, 4 years old, Francia, 3 and Ethelynne, 2. The cause of the fire was not determined.

REPUBLICANS TOLD TO BE IN SEATS IN SENATE NOV. 14

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP).—Senate Republicans were told today by Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the party whip, to be in their seats when Congress reconvenes Nov. 14.

Wherry wrote his colleagues the Senate will act before the present Congress expires at the end of the year on bills:

1. Extending the President's wartime authority to control transportation and Government contracts and to issue priorities.

2. Extending the time during which R. Adm. Husband E. Kimmel and Maj. Gen. Walter C. Short may be tried in connection with the Pearl Harbor tragedy.

3. Providing authority for a billion dollars in flood control and upwards of 400 millions in river and harbor contracts.

Also requiring action before the end of the year is a bill by Senator Vandenberg (Rep.), Michigan, to freeze for another year the Social Security payroll tax at the present level of one per cent each against employers and employes.

BRICKER GETS EXTRA BALLOT BUT VOTES ONLY ONCE

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 7 (AP).—Gov. John W. Bricker, the Republican vice-presidential candidate, voted with Mrs. Bricker in a tightly packed little booth on the East Side today.

"Morning, Governor," a man called out as Bricker came in. "Looks like a good Republican day." A warm sun was shining.

Bricker grinned. "This is a good day for anybody," he said.

"You go ahead, Abbie," he told Mrs. Bricker. "And I'm not saying how she'll vote."

Bricker took five ballots—a nervous clerk had given him an extra one—and entered the curtained cubicle. It ddin't take him long to vote, but Mrs. Bricker was through first. Bricker returned the extra ballot.

BOWLING ALLEY, BAR DESTROYED IN $65,000 FIRE

Manager Says He Smelled Smoke but Found No Blaze at Closing Time, So Went Home.

(Picture in Everyday Magazine.)

Fire early today destroyed a one-and-a-half-story building at 3926 Finney avenue, occupied by the Carver Bowling Alleys and cocktail lounge, which catered to Negroes. Damage was estimated at $65,000 by Fire Chief Frank H. Egenriether.

Passersby discovered the flames shortly after 4:30 a. m. and turned in the first alarm. In less than 20 minutes after the first fire company arrived, witnesses said, the fire broke through the roof and sparks and flying embers threatened surrounding dwellings. Three other alarms were sounded in quick succession.

Jack Berin, general manager of the Paramount Building Co., which owned the bowling alleys, told a Post-Dispatch reporter he had closed the establishment at 2 a. m. and at that time had detected the odor of smoke.

When an investigation disclosed no visible fire, he said, he went home.

Chief Egenriether said the fire started in the basement near a furnace and an air-conditioning unit. Flames swept up the front wall to the roof, where they spread throughout the structure. Origin of the fire, he said, was undetermined, but the total damage included $35,000 to the building and $30,000 to the contents.

Fireman Casimir Gromacki of 1531 North Eighteenth street, attached to No. 25 Engine Company, suffered a puncture wound in his left foot when he stepped on a nail. He was treated at City Hospital. Equipment used in extinguishing the fire included 12 pumpers, four hook and ladder wagons, four high-pressure pumpers and four miscellaneous supply wagons.

WOMAN ARRESTED AT POLL AT ELECTION BOARD'S REQUEST

Mrs. Sylvia Boonshaft, 818 Carr street, was arrested today in front of a Fifth Ward polling place on complaint of Jesse W. Barrett, chairman of the Board of Election Commissioners, and booked as a commissioned election worker who refused to serve.

Police said Mrs. Boonshaft was commissioned as a Republican judge but was electioneering for candidates on the sidewalk near the Twenty-ninth Precinct polling place at 1212 North Jefferson avenue. She explained, police said, that she had not received official notice that she was to serve as judge and would not do so.

Mrs. Boonshaft was held at the Carr street police station in lieu of $1000 bail.

RUSH AT DEWEY'S HOME TOWN

OWOSSO, Mich., Nov. 7 (AP).—In this home town of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Republican presidential candidate, voters were lined up in a light rain in front of every polling place in the city at 7 a. m.

Election officials, terming it the greatest voting rush in the city's history, said the voters were showing unusual familiarity with the long ballots of the voting machines.

National Bulletins When Returns Justify, State and City Summaries Every Half Hour.

Election returns will be broadcast tonight by KSD, the Post-Dispatch station, as long as important contests are in doubt. KSD will cancel commercial programs after 6:30 p. m. for continuous news reports, commentaries and direct broadcasts from headquarters of national, state and city candidates.

With the full service of the Associated Press and of the National Broadcasting Co., KSD will keep listeners fully informed of election developments from the moment the first precinct in the nation reports. The national situation will be covered continually, with special bulletins when returns justify, and at five minutes before the hour and before the half-hour KSD will provide summaries of St. Louis city, county and state returns.

N. B. C. commentators who will discuss election trends throughout the night will include H. V. Kaltenborn, Richard Harkness, John W. Vandercook and Morgan Beatty. A special commentary will be broadcast for KSD-N. B. C. by W. M. Kiplinger, whose Washington letters have served business men for 21 years.

N. B. C. has assigned commentators to the presidential and vice-presidential candidates of the two major parties and to party headquarters. KSD will have its own broadcasting booth at the St. Louis Board of Election Commissioners' office, and plans direct broadcasts from the headquarters of the mayoralty candidates in St. Louis, and the senatorial and gubernatorial candidates in Lebanon, Mo., and Jefferson City.

KSD listeners using the election score-sheet published in Sunday's Post-Dispatch may expect tabulations of the latest returns from various states to be broadcast at 7:30, 8:40, 9:40, and 10:40 o'clock. Five minutes' notice will be given in advance of the tabulations.

Boyd F. Carroll, Jefferson City correspondent of the Post-Dispatch, will prepare summaries of Missouri and St. Louis returns to be broadcast by KSD on the coast-to-coast N. B. C. network. Dr. Roland G. Usher, KSD commentator and chairman of the department of history at Washington University, will broadcast analyses, and KSD will have an election staff of more than 40 persons tabulating and reporting returns from its news room and elsewhere.

Entertainers regularly scheduled on KSD for Tuesday night, including Ginny Simms, Fibber McGee and Molly, Bob Hope, Hildegarde and Johnny Mercer, will be heard from time to time, free from commercial announcements.

61 OF 1086 IN FIFTH WARD VOTE EARLY AS ILLITERATES

A Post-Dispatch reporter, canvassing Fifth Ward, voting places, visited 13 of the 30 precincts between 8 and 9 a. m., and found that a total of 1086 votes had been cast, of which 61 were the votes of illiterate persons, whose ballots were marked for them by the election officials.

In the 29th precinct, voting place at 1212 North Jefferson avenue, 10 of the first 100 voters pleaded illiteracy. In the 15th precinct, 1808 Cass avenue, 15 of the first 113 were illiterates. No illiterate person was among the first 110 voters at the 8th precinct polling place, 1411 Cass. Other precincts reporting no illiterates were the 20th, 1911 Franklin avenue; 21st, 2134 Carr street; and 24th, 2202 Cass.

At the Aug. 1 primary, 69 premarked ballots were found by the Election Board representatives at the 19th precinct polling place, 1923 Biddle street, causing the election officials there to be removed. The excuse given for the pre-marking was that it was to save time when illiterate voters applied for ballots. The markings of the 50 Republican and 19 Democratic ballots were for identical slates of nominees.

DAVID LAWRENCE GIVES F.D.R. 274 ELECTORAL VOTES

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—David Lawrence, columnist, in a pre-election forecast, said today he thought Roosevelt would win not less than 274 and not more than 437 electoral votes.

He explained his estimate on the basis of "a ratio of doubt" formula. According to Lawrence, there are 274 electoral votes for or leaning toward Roosevelt; in this group he finds only 61 doubtful. Of the 257 votes for or leaning toward Dewey, Lawrence considers 163 shaky.

Lawrence gives Pennsylvania's 35 to Roosevelt and thinks Dewey's prospects doubtful in Illinois, Minnesota, Missouri, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Oregon, West Virginia and Wyoming.

ELECTION PREDICTIONS BY WALLACE, BRICKER, HANNEGAN AND BROWNELL

By the Associated Press.

VICE - PRESIDENT WALLACE—President Roosevelt will carry two-thirds of the states, attain a hundred more electoral votes than the 266 he needs and a margin of at least 3,000,000 in the popular vote.

Gov. Bricker of Ohio—"My considered judgment is that Thomas E. Dewey will be elected President."

Democratic Chairman Hannegan—Dewey "will carry fewer states" than Wendell Willkie four years ago. (Willkie won 10 states with an electoral vote of 82.)

Republican Chairman Brownell—"Everything confirms my Sunday statement that we cannot concede a single state outside the Solid South, because of the trend to the Dewey-Bricker ticket."

City and County Balloting Is Heavy

hours of the poll day. Operation of shifts in war plants might be at least a partial explanation for the change. To attain the volume of vote anticipated by political leaders there apparently would have to be a fairly large increase in the rate of voting in the closing hours.

Registration in the city is the lowest since 1928, while in the county it is at a new high level. In each case the enrollment includes some members of the armed forces, but there is no way to determine how many.

Politicians expected that the vote to be cast locally would be about 337,000 in St. Louis and 120,000 in St. Louis County—excluding in each instance the soldier votes cast largely by mail under the war ballot act and not to be counted before Friday. These will number about 20,000 in the city, 7200 in the county.

Estimate on State Vote.

The 784 precinct polling places in the city and the 246 in the county, which opened at 6 o'clock this morning, will close at 7 o'clock this evening, as will the rest throughout Missouri. Local as well as state and national candidates are before the voters in the entire state. Total vote of Missouri is expected to be about 1,500,000, with the results close and the decision whether the state's 15 electoral votes shall go to President Roosevelt or Gov. Thomas E. Dewey largely dependent on the outcome in St. Louis.

Missouri's expected vote is about 330,000 less than that cast in 1940. National attention is focused on Missouri as it is one of the pivotal or doubtful states and because it is the home of the Democratic candidate for Vice President, Senator Harry S. Truman, and the Democratic national chairman, Robert E. Hannegan, St. Louisan.

Light rain fell in Western and Central Missouri this morning, while it was crisp and sunny here, with a forecast of rain in St. Louis and the eastern part of the State by afternoon or early evening and a rise in temperature to the upper 60s. However, forenoon voting in Kansas City was heavy.

Besides the blanket ballot, listing the two major and three minor party tickets, each voter is receiving two small ballots, covering the two proposed constitutional amendments and the Judges seeking retention in office under the nonpartisan court plan. Each of the latter two ballots calls for Yes or No votes.

Soldier Vote Estimates.

Votes of members of the armed forces, it is generally believed, may play a deciding part in the results in some of the contests in Missouri and possibly in St. Louis. Although politicians had estimated this vote in Missouri might reach 100,000 or more, repeated checks by the Post-Dispatch have shown that it will not exceed 75,000 throughout the State.

A Post-Dispatch canvass of St. Louis, Kansas City and the 24 larger counties, having about three-fourths of the soldier vote, showed that in this bloc the number of war ballots up to last night was 53,055—indicating a total in the State so far of 72,700. This was a statewide increase of 2300 since last Friday night. War ballots will be acceptable up until 6 p. m. tomorrow. It is not necessary for a member of the armed forces to be registered in order to vote, and a sample check in St. Louis several weeks ago showed that 68 per cent of the war ballots were cast by persons not registered.

In St. Louis the war ballots cast up to last night numbered 19,226 and, at the recent rate of increase, the final figure would be about 19,850. In St. Louis County the figure last night was 6992, indicating a final number of about 7220.

In addition to the war ballots, there will be somewhat more than 10,000 civilian absentee ballots in the whole State. These will not be counted before Friday and, added to the war ballots, will make a total of about 85,000 votes, or a twentieth of the expected aggregate in the State, which will not be accounted for when the election closes tonight and whose political division will not be known for from three days to a week.

Split Tickets on Mayoralty.

Splitting of tickets was expected to be an important factor in the election of officials on the blanket ballot. Notable instances of interest in this respect are those of Republicans voting for Roosevelt and of Democrats voting for Mayor Aloys P. Kaufmann, Republican, for the five-month unexpired mayoral term.

Post-Dispatch reporters found considerable evidence in many wards of the city that voters were splitting their tickets. As expected by politicians, splitting was more apparent in the better residential sections, less in the neighborhoods where voters are inclined to follow partisan appeals, including some of the Negro districts.

In a group of North Side wards, the First, Twentieth, Twenty-first and Twenty-seventh, including some territory generally considered Democratic, precinct officials estimated variously that 10 to 50 per cent of the voters were spending enough time on their blanket ballots to be casting split tickets but the officials said generally the time taken was not enough to split on more than one or two offices. There were similar reports from a mid-town and South Side group of wards, the Fourteenth, Fifteenth, Sixteenth and Twenty-fifth.

About half the voters in the South Side Thirteenth Ward were reported to be spending considerable time in marking their ballots, as if engaged in general splitting. In the Third Ward, on the lower North Side, many tickets apparently were voted straight.

North Side, Midtown, South Side.

There were seemingly many straight tickets cast in the Fourth and Nineteenth wards, which have numerous Democrats and Negroes in their electorate, but the Twenty-second, a northwestern home area with many Democrats, there was some splitting. In the Eighteenth, a midtown ward with many Negroes, varying reports of the extent of splitting came from different precincts.

It was said by officials in the Eighth, Ninth and Tenth, South Side river wards, that Republican precincts seemed to be casting mostly straight tickets while Democratic precincts were doing some splitting. In such big far South Side wards as the Eleventh and Twelfth, voters were found to be taking some little time to mark their ballots, but this condition was less pronounced in the southwestern Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth.

Inclusion of the office of Mayor in a presidential election is unprecedented, arising from the death of Mayor William Dee Becker in the glider accident Aug. 1, 1943. The Mayor chosen today will serve until next April, when a regular four-year term will be filled. Kaufmann, a lawyer, who was President of the Board of Aldermen, has been Mayor ex-officio for the last 15 months. His Democratic opponent is Patrick J. Burke, a business agent of the AFL Milk Wagon Drivers' and Inside Dairy Workers' Union.

Street Corner Poll on Mayor.

Announcement was made today of results of interviews of 1821 registered voters stopped at random at 13 street intersections in all parts of the city Saturday by representatives of a market research company retained by the Republican City Committee.

Of the persons interviewed, 1427 said they intended to vote today, and 200 declined to comment. The interviewers reported that 859, or 59 per cent of those giving expressions, favored Kaufmann; 401, or 28 per cent, favored Burke, and 188, or 13 per cent, said they were undecided. Of the 188 undecided as to Mayor, 129 said they would vote for Roosevelt and 33 for Dewey, while 26 were undecided on President, too. Further questions put to those interviewed reflected the intention of a considerable number to vote split tickets. Kaufmann led in reports from 12 of the interviewing points, Burke from one, at Fourteenth street and Cass avenue.

Hundreds of members of CIO unions, organized by the Political Action Committee, were active at the polls in the city and county, getting out the vote. The PAC is supporting a ticket of Democratic candidates for national and congressional offices and Governor.

Names of 140 voters were added to the registration list in the city today by orders of five Circuit Judges, who heard 190 appeals this morning from removal of names from the rolls.

The Circuit Court grand jury was in session today, ready to act at once on any reports of irregularities in the election.

City and state offices, banks, the St. Louis Stock Exchange and Merchants' Exchange were closed for the election.

Strong Morning Turnout in Madison, St. Clair Counties.

A heavy turnout of voters at polling places in Madison and St. Clair counties on the East Side was reported at noon today. In St. Clair County election officials reported almost 50 per cent of the 104,000 registered voters had already marked their ballots, and in Madison County approximately 35 per cent of the 76,060 registered had voted.

County Clerk Oscar L. Becker of St. Clair County, commenting on a survey of polling places made this morning, predicted the total vote in the election would be "at least 90,000." In the 1940 presidential election, the total vote in the county was 90,708, which established a record.

The early morning voting, Becker said, was the heaviest in history. Some St. Clair County precincts reported 100 votes cast in the first hour. Sheriff George V. Gruenewald said there was a minor disturbance at precinct seven in Centerville, a predominantly Republican area, when 180 Negroes were denied the right to vote because they allegedly had failed to complete their registration.

Miss Eulalia Hotz, County Clerk of Madison County, estimated the total vote there would be about 72,000, including 2661 service men's ballots that have been received. Continued mild weather and sunshine, she said, appeared to be bringing the voters to the polls. The record vote in Madison County was 76,546 in the 1940 presidential election.

Jackson County Vote So Heavy More Ballot Boxes are Called For

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 7 (AP).—Additional ballot boxes had to be sent to several precincts in Jackson County today because of the surprisingly heavy vote.

Precinct judges began calling by 9 o'clock to report that the two boxes alloted each precinct would not hold the total vote. First advice from the commissioners was to tamp the ballots down into the boxes but they sent out the additional containers when complaints continued to flood in.

PREMIER SAYS ALLIES WOULD DENY JAPAN RIGHT TO LIVE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 7 (AP).—Premier Gen. Kuniaki Koiso of Japan declared last night that "inordinate Anglo-American ambition to deny the right of existence to Japan" had forced the Island empire into "the present horrible war of unprecedented magnitude."

The Premier pictured Japan as ready to support "any international organization intended for the establishment of true amity among the nations of the world."

But the Americans and British, he claimed, were trying to establish a world hegemony "enforcing their unilateral international order and maintain their organization for aggression and exploitation." Therefore, Japan would fight on as long as they persisted in those aims.

JAPAN TO PRAY FOR WEEK TO WAR GODS FOR VICTORY

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 7 (AP).—Beginning at midnight tonight, Tokyo time, the Japanese will open a week of "victory" supplication to the Nippon war gods Kashima and Katori.

A Tokyo radio broadcast said the week of praying at the shrines of the two gods would be conducted by the Imperial Rule Assistance Association, the totalitarian party of Japan.

ROME, Nov. 7 (AP).—Polish troops of the Eighth Army have captured San Martino and Marsignano in the mountains southwest of Forli, Allied Headquarters announced today.

Several important hill features were seized.

YANK GETS THRILL IN MARKING BALLOT WHILE UNDER FIRE

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Nov. 7 (AP).—The significance of marking an American ballot under fire on German soil was described by Cpl. Roger M. Olsen of the U. S. Army in a letter to his wife who is a school teacher here. The letter, which she read to a reporter, said in part:

"As I marked the little X's I could hear the thundering guns and big shells whistling through the air toward the enemy. Each little mark seemed to strengthen the chain of freedom which the enemy, a few miles away, had tried hard to break. It was indeed an honor to vote today."

Collapses on Street Car, Dies.

ROOSEVELT VOTES AT HYDE PARK AS 'TREE GROWER'

dent while he cast his ballot. He had a little trouble because the lever on the voting machine wouldn't work. An election official reached over the top of the booth and jiggled it.

The President wore a gray suit and the Navy cape which cloaked his shoulders through most of his campaign appearances.

A crowd of Hyde Park neighbors assembled before the town hall long before the Roosevelts showed up to vote. They applauded when the President drove up and again when he left the hall. As he sat in the car waiting for Mrs. Roosevelt to complete her voting, the President chatted with Elmer Van Wagner, the supervisor of Hyde Park.

Closes With a Prayer.

Roosevelt closed his fourth-term campaign last night with a radio prayer for a just and lasting peace.

He wants 50 million voters at the polls to show the world, as he put it, "that our kind of government is the best in the world—and the kind we propose to keep!"

A big vote will cause the world to "respect our democracy," he said.

The President made his brief radio address from a studio in his Hyde Park home at the close of a day which took him on a 75-mile tour of six neighboring communities in the Hudson Valley during which he repeatedly expressed his own confidence of re-election.

Talks of War and Future.

His talk last night was devoted to the war, the future of those now in service and the fight for a world organization to preserve the peace.

The President reminded his listeners that they would vote today as "free men and women, with full freedom of choice," and declared:

"Not for one single moment can you now or later forget the all-important goals for which we are aiming—to win the war and unite our fighting men with their families at the earliest moment; to see that all have honorable jobs; and to create a world peace organization which will prevent this disaster from ever coming upon us again."

Gibes at Hamilton Fish.

During his drive yesterday afternoon, Roosevelt cast his usual campaign barbs at Representative Hamilton Fish, New York Republican congressman.

The President made the tour in an open car. He was bundled in a fur-collared overcoat to protect him from the cold. Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau accompanied him.

Speaking at the Poughkeepsie courthouse at the close of the day, he said:

"I hope tomorrow it will be said in this country that the war has been conducted constitutionally and with the approval of the people. I hope that will be said—and I think it will be."

He told the Poughkeepsie crowd he was sure that after Jan. 20—end of the third term — the "President of the United States will still live in Dutchess County, New York."

Bigger Crowds This Year.

Roosevelt remarked that the crowds which greeted him in Newburgh and Kingston were "two or three times bigger" than those which turned out for his election-eve tour four years ago.

Three times during the day he brought Representative Fish into his remarks.

At Newburgh, Kingston and again at Poughkeepsie he congratulated the New York Legislature for redistricting the state and taking Dutchess County out of Fish's district, effective after this year.

"Hamilton Fish won't be my Congressman after the first of January," he told a cheering crowd at Kingston. Later at Poughkeepsie he repeated the same thing without mentioning Fish by name, and added: "My friends, there's more than one way of getting rid of a Congressman."

At almost every stop the President—in one way or another—expressed confidence that he would defeat Gov. Thomas E. Dewey today.

Once in the late afternoon the President's motorcade pulled off the highway at a roadside lunch stand and the Chief Executive and Morgenthau ate a couple of hot dogs apiece.

were not observed by the high-flying Liberators.

The Tokyo radio said 300 American planes made the attack on shipping in the Philippines. It also broadcast extensive claims of damaging blows against American warships off the Philippines, saying at least two carriers were sunk.

China-Based Planes Sink 38,000 Tons of Ships in Month.

CHUNGKING, Nov. 7 (AP).—The United States Fourteenth Air Force sank 23 Japanese ocean going vessels totaling 38,000 tons in October, probably sank 15 other vessels exceeding 36,000 tons and damaged 39 vessels of more than 68,000 tons, a statement said today.

One Japanese cruiser, a 225-foot naval vessel and two destroyers were sunk, one destroyer probably was sunk and one destroyed was damaged.

BIG-SCALE BATTLE DEVELOPS IN AREA SOUTH OF AACHEN

command indicated a new defense line was being established on the north bank of the Maas.

Berlin's broadcast communique said Allied forces hitting toward the Vosges mountain gaps had reached the west bank of the Meurthe River between Baccarat and St. Die.

French troops seized three villages in an arc east of Baccarat, closing on the Schirmeck and Saales passes, Supreme Headquarters said, and Americans won St. Remy, Nompatelize and La Salle, at the approaches to the Saales and Ste. Marie passes.

On the newly active French Maritime Alps front, Allied troops seized high ground along the Italian frontier.

Cleanup on Lower Maas.

In southwestern Holland the last enemy units south of the lower Maas River were being mopped up. There still were small groups of enemy troops around the southern approaches to the Moerdijk bridges, which the Germans have demolished.

British Second Army troops last night cleared out the last enemy pocket in their sector below the river in the vicinity of Empel, north of 's Hertogenbosch.

Virtually all of Walcheren Island in the Schelde estuary now is in Allied hands. Middelburg in the center of the island and Veere on the north coast have been captured, the Allied communique reported. Field dispatches indicated Middelburg was entered by British and Canadian forces without a surrender from its German garrison. Enemy units still were hiding out elsewhere in the flooded island.

In southeastern Holland, where British and American troops have been retaking slowly the positions they lost to a sudden and powerful German counter-thrust west of the border city of Venlo, the action had subsided, temporarily at least, into desultory artillery duelling.

Close Air Support.

All of these ground operations had close air support. While heavy bombers continued the tremendous blows against Germany which have shattered all records for sustained aerial bombardment in the last four days, medium bombers and fighters went after close-in targets of enemy troop formations and communications.

Fighter-bombers and rocket-firing fighters attacked rail and supply lines behind the German positions all through Holland and the Rhineland, as well as fuel and ammunition dumps at Duren, tank and infantry columns in the Hurtgen area, and other military targets near Aachen.

The clearing of the Schelde estuary must be completed before Allied men and supplies can be poured across Antwerp's docks for the big offensive, which German broadcasts said was about to break somewhere along the 500-mile western front.

One German commentator declared the present Allied attacks, in the Netherlands, in Germany and in northern France, were to secure good platforms for the offensive. He said the Allies now were using no more than 25 per cent of their force.

With British, Canadian, American and Polish troops stretched along the south bank of the Maas and its seaward outlet on a 50-mile front, Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery is in position to launch an attack either across the complex network of waterways below Rotterdam, 16 miles to the north, or east toward Germany's industrial Ruhr valley.

Today's German communique said that the trapped Nazi garrison of Dunkerque, which has been estimated at 17,000 men, threw back strong Allied attacks on narrow sector with heavy losses that the Allies did not renew the assault.

DEMOCRATS WIND UP WITH HOUR OF SPEECHES AND SONGS

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP).—The Democratic party climaxed its 1944 campaign last night with an hour-long broadcast over all major networks, featuring President Roosevelt's Hyde Park address and including short talks, songs and music by writers, politicians and movie stars from Hollywood and New York.

Among speakers on the program were Quentin Reynolds, writer; W. Averell Harriman, Ambassador to Russia, and Humphrey Bogart.

Songs and music were political.

The President was introduced from Hollywood by an 18-year-old Decatur (Ga.) girl, Betty Hall. Norman Corwin, director of the show, said she had been selected from a dozen Georgia girls who made records of their own speeches for Roosevelt's candidacy. He said they would be the country's youngest voters because of Georgia's minimum voting age of 18.

WASHINGTON PAPER DEPLORES DENIAL OF VOTE IN CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP).—The Evening Star called this election day a "day of humiliation and mouring" for the "un-Americanized Americans" of the District of Columbia.

It published a black-bordered editorial by Editor Theodore W. Noyes protesting against denial of the ballot to 663,091 (1940 census) Americans who live in the national capital. Asserting that the capital's population was greater than that of 12 states, yet was denied the ballot or representation in Congress, the editorial asked:

"Will not the people of the United States respond so vigorously to the District's appeal that before the next national election this unjust and hurtful discrimination shall be removed?"

GEN. SULTAN SAYS U. S. AIM IN CHINA HAS NOT CHANGED

NEW DELHI, Nov. 7 (AP).—Lt. Gen. Daniel I. Sultan, in his first speech to American troops as their commander in the India-Burma war theater, said today that "recent development" such as the recall of Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, have changed "neither our mission nor our strategy."

"The Chinese army in China has tied up numerous Japanese divisions which would be used and could still be used against our forces in the Pacific," he said.

"Our job, therefore, is to open the Burma road so heavy equipment, impossible to move by air, can be gotten to the Fourteenth Air Force, so that artillery may be gotten to the Chinese armies, so that we may make a last concerted rush, shoulder to shoulder with Gen. MacArthur and Adm. Nimitz to end the reign of the Jap once and for all."

STRIKE OVER, ARMY RETURNS 8 TOLEDO PLANTS TO OWNERS

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 7 (AP). — Operation of eight Toledo war plants by the War Department ended last night following the termination of a strike of the Mechanics Educational Society, an independent union, that affected 25 Toledo concerns and 20 in the Detroit area.

Col. Philip R. Faymonville, designated to carry out provisions of the presidential order for seizure, announced that the plants were restored to private ownership at 8 p. m.

"Full production was resumed following a general return to work in these plants," Col. Faymonville said in a statement. "Furthermore, the Army has been given assurance by all interested labor organizations that their members . . . will remain on the job." He did not disclose terms for settlement of the dispute, which started Oct. 24 in the Electric Auto-Lite Co. plant.

Heavy Vote Cast in U. S.; 50 Million Total Likely

dicted the total vote would exceed 700,000, as compared with a 1940 total of 584,000.

Heavy voting that began at sunup carried Illinois toward a new record election turnout. The spirited presidential campaign, bulwarked by vigorous contests for Governor, United States Senator and State and county offices, attracted balloting that experts predicted would surpass the State's total of 4,262,196 recorded in 1940.

Blessed with dry weather and in some places sunny skies, voters in all sections of the State appeared at the polls early and in large numbers. The balloting was especially heavy in the large urban industrial areas, but the agricultural sections were by no means lagging.

Election officials of Chicago, Democratic stronghold where both Roosevelt and Dewey appeared in person to bid for Illinois' 28 electoral votes, estimated 47 per cent of the vote was in by 11 a. m.

Of Cook County's record registration of 2,470,880, Chicago has 2,031,011 of the voters. The statewide registration has a record 4,553,040.

Heavy Rural Vote in Ohio.

Voters turned out in record-breaking volume throughout much of Ohio. Rural areas reported unusually heavy balloting, farmers forming long lines before voting booths.

The balloting was heavy in the industrialized northern section of the State.

Secretary of State Edward J. Hummel said voting was "fast and furious" over all the State and that it was proceeding at an unusually fast rate, indicating, he said, many persons were voting straight tickets.

Virtually all coal mines in West Virginia were closed down, as many of the 110,000 miners stayed away from the job to vote. How the miners would vote in this important "border state" has been the subject of much speculation, since John L. Lewis, the miners' chieftain, is supporting Dewey.

Heavy Massachusetts Vote.

Heavy early voting was reported throughout Massachusetts—a pivotal state in the presidential contest—with voters forming long lines outside many polling places. Clear skies and crisp cold weather covered the Bay State.

War plant workers, coming off the early morning "graveyard" shift, helped pile up a heavy early vote in Los Angeles. In one precinct there, 12½ per cent of the registered vote was cast in the first 20 minutes.

The weather was favorable generally, but even where it was not there was no stopping the voters. Salt Lake reported: "Heavy rain, heavy vote."

Showers were widespread in the Mississippi Valley from Texas northward through Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska. Rain was falling in the Dakotas, Wisconsin, Nevada, Idaho and Utah, with light showers reported in Oregon and Washington.

Even the heavily Democratic deep South, where voting in presidential elections often is light, reported an unusually heavy turnout at Miami, Atlanta, Birmingham and elsewhere.

Baltimore and Norfolk, big war centers, also had heavy votes.

Dewey and Roosevelt, in eleventh-hour messages to the country, agreed that no matter who wins the presidency, it is supremely important to a democracy at war to pile up a huge vote.

Roosevelt, in asking for a turnout of 50 million voters, set his sights a little higher than the actual figures of four years ago, when 49,815,312 votes were cast. Then he carried 27,243,466, almost five million more than Republican Wendell L. Willkie.

3,369,000 Service Votes.

The last of about 2,652,000 service votes which can be counted in 40 states were being sorted today.

Five of the 40 states — New York, New Mexico, Connecticut, Iowa, Kentucky—stopped accepting G. I. ballots yesterday. Thirty-five others are accepting them today. Eight states will accept them until various dates up to North Dakota's Dec. 5.

All but 11 states will count their service votes today or tonight. Few will tabulate them separately from the civilian vote.

Latest reports from state election officials indicate that 3,369,000 of the 4,700,000 servicemen and women who applied for absentee ballots will return them in time to be counted. The 3,369,000 includes approximately 717,000 expected by states which will accept ballots after today.

The service vote could decide the election in any state whose civilian voters may be divided almost evenly between Roosevelt and Dewey.

Should such a situation arise in any of the nine states which do not count any of their soldier votes today or tonight, the nation might have to wait days or weeks to learn who wins the election. This would happen only if neither candidate had a majority of the 531 electoral votes from the 39 other states.

Liquor and Gun Shells Stolen.

Eighteen fifths of liquor and five boxes of shotgun shells, valued at $105, were stolen yesterday from the apartment of William Wesseling at 4616 Lindell boulevard, he reported to police last night.

5 YEARS FOR THEFT ON TRAIN

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 7 (AP).—George Lawson, 41 years old, of Cincinnati, O., was sentenced to five years in Federal prison after pleading guilty in United States District Court yesterday to theft of a railroad ticket and other property moving in interstate commerce. Lawson was brought here from the Federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., where he is serving another term.

Lawson's wife, Bessie Bobbie Lawson, 22, was indicted with him last Feb. 12. She was found dead in a St. Louis hotel last April 19. She also was known as Bobbie Allen of Chicago.

Takes Donkey to Polls.

CHICAGO, Nov. 7 (AP).—James Jankowski is a Democrat, and wants everyone to know it. He arrived this morning at the Eighty-second Precinct polling place leading a donkey. Its ears were bedecked with American flags, and its sides with pictures of President Roosevelt.

The show was over, and radio's sultry songstress, Dinah Shore, returned to her Brittany battlefield tent to relax.

It was then she overheard two GI's bemoaning the fact that they had jeeped 60 miles only to miss the show.

Whereupon Dinah called the boys over and gave her audience of two a special show for 20 minutes.

Enjoy the full, rich tones, the refreshing newness, the greater range and depth of FM's static-free reception through Majestic—the name that means radio at its best.

The top five in October daytime Hooperatings are: 1st, When a Girl Marries; 2nd, Kate Smith Speaks; 3rd, Our Gal Sunday; 4th, Big Sister; and 5th, Romance of Helen Trent.

Radio Gets a New Star

Remember the bashful fellow with the tortoise-shell eye-glasses who got into more funny situations than a playful puppy? Sure, Harold Lloyd! Well, Harold made his radio debut Sunday, Oct. 29, and will be heard every week in a new radio show called, Comedy Theatre of the Air. Radio adaptations of famous screen and stage farces will be presented with Lloyd as producer and narrator.

MRS. DEWEY SPENDS ELECTION DAY AT HUSBAND'S SIDE

Feels 'Confident'—To Help Keep Score Sheets Straight at Headquarters.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP).—Mrs. Thomas E. Dewey, a little tense looking, is spending the fourth election day she's gone through with her husband, by his side.

In their campaign headquarters at the Roosevelt Hotel here she will help to keep the election score sheets straight.

She has seen him win as District Attorney, lose the New York Governor's race, then win it. And now that he is running for the highest office in the land she faced the day with a single comment—a seasoned trooper's expression—she's "confident."

Publicly, through the campaign, she has played the role of the silent and smiling wife. Behind the scenes, Dewey aids say, she was the last to blue-pencil her husband's speeches, and in several instances made last-minute changes which were considered "valuable" by his managers.

The Dewey sons, Thomas Jr., 11 years old, and John 8, had to remain in Albany with their grandmother, Mrs. George E. Dewey, and a cousin of their father's, Miss Katharine Dewey of Boston, an assistant in Harvard University's Engineering school. However, the boys have been promised a phone call just before bedtime at 8 p. m.

AMERICAN DRIVE ON LEYTE ROLLING AHEAD UNCHECKED

ing road, used to supply the advancing Americans, was cut.

Some of the Yanks managed to draw back under cover of darkness, but others fought on through the night and didn't escape until dawn.

In one American mortar group of 20 only five survived.

One company command post unit beat off a banzai charge with canister, killing 18 Japanese with a single blast.

American artillery hit the area heavily after the Yanks withdrew and at midmorning fresh troops attacked. At nightfall they were well up the heights again, meeting only light opposition.

The Yanks were driving through Japanese positions in what today's communique termed "favorable defensive terrain." Long-range artillery aided the advance, pounding the enemy along the valley and in Ormoc.

No Report on Seventh Division.

The southern end of the Ormoc trap presumably also was closing, although the communique made no mention of the Seventh Division, which was some 12 miles south of the port city at last report.

American planes continued heavy bombardment of Japanese airdromes on other Visayan islands, an offensive which the communique said has "sharply reduced the scale of enemy air activity over the Leyte area."

Heavy bombers followed night harassing attacks on Cebu and Negros islands with a 72-ton bomb load on Lahub airdrome. Fighters battled for 30 minutes with Japanese interceptors over northwest Negros, shooting down six planes and losing one.

HUNGARY TO FALL SOON, DECLARES PREMIER STALIN

stretch from the Black Sea to the Barents Sea. Thus, the past year has been the year of complete liberation of Soviet soil from the German fascist invaders."

In his speech last night, however, Stalin said only a part of Latvia had not been liberated and that 30 German divisions there, surrounded between Libau and Tukums, were being smashed.

Hour of Victory Advanced.

The Red Army and Soviet people are ready to strike "new devastating blows at the enemy," Stalin said. "The days of the Hitlerite blood-stained regime are numbered.

"Joint blows of the Red Army and the Anglo-American troops at Hitlerite Germany have advanced the hour of the victorious conclusion of the war."

It was at this point that Stalin said the Allies were ready for perhaps their last great offensive against the enemy.

"Now the task consists of crushing Hitlerite Germany within the shortest possible period through a vigorous onslaught of the armies of the United Nations," he said.

Berlin broadcasts reported conditions inside Budapest were turbulent, with refugees fleeing from the city in increasing numbers "seriously hampering" military traffic in the streets and on roads to the northwest.

The Paris radio reported this morning that Hungarian workers had gone on strike in Budapest and occupied the Manfred Weiss armament works.

JAP PINCERS ONLY 80 MILES FROM CLOSING ON LIUCHOW

CHUNGKING, Nov. 7 (AP).—Japanese pincers closing on the Kwangsi province defense center of Liuchow now are only about 80 miles apart, the Chinese high command disclosed tonight.

Foreign observers arriving in Chungking from the combat zone said the enemy forces had all necessary weapons for modern war and that the Chinese units opposing them were poorly equipped and outclassed.

Below this active theater, Japanese troops pushing westward from Kweihsien were about 20 miles from Pinyang. Capture of Pinyang would be a distinct step forward in the Japanese plan to establish an overland link with French Indo-China.

FURS NAZI SOLDIERS WEAR SENT HOME BY SOLDIER HERE

Mrs. Jess Baker, 2329 St. Louis avenue, yesterday received five fur jackets of the type worn by German soldiers, which were mailed by her son, Cpl. Theodore Baker, a field artilleryman serving with the American Third Army under Lt. Gen. George S. Patton Jr.

Mrs. Baker said that one of the jackets was apparently made of gray squirrel, but she didn't know what the others were. Although her son had written that he would send the jackets, he did not explain how he had obtained them, Mrs. Baker said.

Cpl. Baker, 24 years old, was inducted into the Army in October, 1941, and has been overseas since July.

TWO HELD AS ACCESSORIES TO KILLING OF SHERIFF

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 7 (AP).—The State highway patrol said yesterday that murder charges had been filed against Kenneth Holloway, 24 years old, and Mrs. Goldie Smith, 18 years old, both of Warsaw, charging them with being accessories to the killing of Sheriff Louis J. Miesner in a jail break at Warsaw last Wednesday.

Harold Buster Goff, 27, already had been charged with murder in the killing of the sheriff. Goff surrendered last Friday after a two-day manhunt.

Goff admitted the killing in a statement to patrol officers, the patrol said, and told them and Benton County Prosecutor F. M. Brady the jailbreak was part of a plot in which Holloway and Mrs. Smith also were to be freed.

The New Fire

WE may sometimes wonder what kind of people we are—Americans, yes.

But...

Whenever there is a human need or a catastrophe—we are quick to respond.

We are defenders of the human being.

We are fighters for the rights of every man, woman and child.

Let's look at the record.

In less than two hundred years our youth, our vigor and our courage have given men a new way of life

Today, the average family in this nation enjoys more benefits than kings of old: Light—Power—Education—Freedom and Opportunity—for all time

That is what we stand for.

We want to build—never destroy—

We want to advance science and knowledge and the well-being of every individual.

This is the fire of America—

The flame that will never die—

The hope for men and women and children to come.

One of the fruits of this fire has been our industrial growth.

Groups of men have banded together and worked together to bring to us the wonders that have made all the world look to America.

In our hour of great need free men working in great industrial plants, at the bench in the office in the laboratory HAVE FORGED AND BUILT THE INSTRUMENTS WHICH ARE DESTROYING OUR ENEMIES.

Today, WAR

TOMORROW this same fire will build for America—and through example for the world—a security a freedom, an economy in which children can be born and grow up—free from fear, want and repression.

In such a land when a group of men working together place after their company's signature such words as—"Serving through Science"—those words are inspired by that fire of America—the fire that ultimately means new health new strength, and new opportunity for countless millions yet unborn.

DR. J. R. STEELMAN QUITS AS LABOR CONCILIATION HEAD

Resignation, Effective Nov. 25, Said to Be Due to Long-Held Desire to Leave Washington.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP).—Dr. John R. Steelman, the New Deal's handy man in labor disputes, has quit his $9600 job as chief of the United States Conciliation Service, effective Nov. 25.

The resignation was announced before the election, so it could not be construed as being politically inspired, Steelman said. Labor Secretary Perkins received his letter of resignation July 1.

The letter said it had been Steelman's desire to leave Washington "for some time" but he had felt it a duty to remain until the conciliation service "could be more nearly perfected." Steelman said his principal objective had been to build up the conciliation service to national recognition and respect so that it would be called into disputes before they reached the stage where a work stoppage occurred.

In Some Hot Labor Disputes.

Steelman has been in the middle of some of the hottest labor disputes of the Roosevelt administration—mainly those involving John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers.

Probably the toughest spot he was invited to occupy came during the "captive mine" strike of November, 1941, when Lewis was fighting for a closed shop in the steel company-owned soft coal mines.

The Defense Mediation Board collapsed when Lewis, his right-hand man Thomas Kennedy and his then close associate Philip Murray, the three CIO representatives on the board, walked out in protest against the board's decision against the mine union.

Votes for Closed Shop.

The President then appointed Steelman, Lewis and Ben Fairless, chairman of United States Steel, as arbitrators. Steelman's decisive vote was cast with Lewis in favor of the closed shop. That ended the "captive mine strike."

Steelman, holder of five degrees—from Harvard, Vanderbilt, Peabody, North Carolina and Henderson-Brown—is credited by Miss Perkins with doing a magnificent job in the field of conciliation before strikes.

She said the service under Steelman had settled 90 per cent of its 25,000 annual cases. Steelman says only 11 per cent now reach the strike stage, compared to 57 per cent when he took over in 1937.

TRUMAN AND WIFE VOTE EARLY AT INDEPENDENCE, MO.

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., Nov. 7 (AP).—Senator Harry S. Truman, Democratic vice-presidential nominee, cast his ballot—it was No. 102—at 9:35 a. m., in today's general election.

Accompanied by his wife, Truman arrived here from Kansas City and drove immediately to the Memorial Building, where he voted in the seventh precinct of Blue Township. Mrs. Truman's ballot was No. 103.

Present at the polling place was Henry Bundschu, Federal referee in bankruptcy, a Republican and friend of Truman.

"Well," Bundschu commented to election officials, "I just killed Harry's vote." Truman, still in the booth, turned around and said smilingly: "or else I killed yours."

PACKARD CLOSES WAR PLANT IN LABOR ROW

CIO Man Says Dispute Centers on Upgrading of Negro Workers.

DETROIT, Nov. 7 (AP).—The Packard Motor Car Co. said today it had closed its entire plant, which employs some 39,000 workers, because a dispute involving several hundred polishers had produced an "unbalanced material condition" which made impossible the production of aircraft and marine engines.

International representatives of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) which has a working contract with the company, have been attempting to settle the dispute ever since the polishers walked off their jobs last Friday night, a company spokesman said.

The company spokesman described the dispute only as involving a refusal of the polishers to "abide by the Union's contract." George F. Addes, secretary-treasury of the UAW-CIO international union, said the dispute centered on objection of the polishers to the upgrading of Negro workers to the position of metal polishers. Urging the polishers to return to work, Addes said "the union will not tolerate any violation of its constitution, which calls for fair treatment regardless of race."

HOLIDAY TURKEYS TO BE HELD TO 1943 PRICE LEVELS

Ceilings on Available Supplies Set at 44 to 61 Cents a Pound.

Thanksgiving turkeys should be priced about the same as last year to those fortunate enough to find them in the markets, William K. Burlen, price executive of the St. Louis District Office of Price Administration, said today.

"Both the public and the trade should be aware that ceilings have been established for November and December that are substantially the same as prices at comparable times last year," Burlen said.

The War Food Administration announced last Saturday the partial suspension of its order requiring all turkeys in certain areas to be offered first to the Army Quartermaster Corps, and forecast slightly brighter prospects for civilian dinners.

The highest prices that may be charged by small retailers here range from 44 cents a pound for live old turkeys to 61 cents a pound for young drawn turkeys weighing less than 13 pounds. Prices in large markets should be lower, Burlen said.

FOURTH SON OF UTAH FARM FAMILY NOW REPORTED DEAD

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP).—Pfc. Rulon J. Borgstrom, the fourth son of a Tremonton (Utah) farm family to be lost in the Second World War, was listed officially yesterday as killed in action. Pfc. Boyd Borgstrom, fifth son of Mr. and Mrs. Alben Borgstrom, had been discharged by the Marine Corps on the basis of an earlier Army report that Rulon was missing.

Boyd, veteran of 18 months in the Southwest Pacific, was at home when Maj. Francis S. Ashley, personnel affairs officer of the Ninth Service Command, drove to the farm 12 miles northwest of Tremonton Saturday with the final news.

The parents petitioned for Boyd's release when they were informed of his brother's fate. A petition for Rulon's release also had been made before word came that he was missing. The department said Rulon was with his unit in an attack at Le Dreff, France, Aug. 25, when he was killed.

ROOSEVELT TEXT: POLITICAL BATTLE FINISHED, WE MUST BAND TOGETHER TO BAR WAR

The Important Goal Is 'to Create a World Peace Organization Which Will Prevent This Disaster From Ever Coming Upon Us Again.'

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Nov. 7 (AP).

FOLLOWING is the text of the radio address of President Roosevelt from his home here last night:

As we sit quietly this evening in our home at Hyde Park, our thoughts, like those of millions of other Americans, are most deeply concerned with the well-being of all our American fighting men. We are thinking of our own sons—all of them far away from home—and of our neighbors' sons and the sons of our friends.

That concern arises above all others in this critical period of our national life.

In great contrast to the quiet which is ours here in America in our own secure homes is the knowledge that most of those fighting men of ours have no quiet times, and little leisure at this hour to reflect on the significance of our American election day, tomorrow.

Some are standing at battle stations on shipboard, tense in the excitement of action; some lie in wet foxholes, or trudge doggedly through the sticky mud, firing as they go. Still others are high above the earth, fighting Messerschmits or Zeros.

All of them are giving everything they have got to defeat our enemies, and uppermost in all their minds is the one thought; to win the war as soon as possible, so that they may return to the quiet and peace of their homes.

Won't Forget Election.

But in the midst of fighting—in the presence of our brutal enemies—our soldiers and sailors and airmen will not forget election day back home.

Millions of these men have already cast their own ballots, and they will be wondering about the outcome of the election, and what it will mean to them in their future lives. And sooner or later all of them will be asking questions as to whether the folks back home looked after their interests, their liberties, their Government, their country — while they themselves were off at war.

Our boys are counting on us to show the rest of the world that our kind of government is the best in the world—and the kind we propose to keep. And so when our people turn out at the polls tomorrow—and I sincerely hope that it will be 50 million strong—the world will respect our democracy, and the grand old Stars and Stripes will wave more proudly than ever before.

These brave fighters of ours have taken on enemies on both sides of our world, enemies who were nurtured since childhood in militarism. These boys of ours, wisely led, and using the matchless weapons which you here at home have sent to them, have outfought these ruthless enemies, outfought them on the land, outfought them on the sea, outfought them in the skies. They are winning the victory for all of us. Many are giving life itself. And it is for us to make certain that we win for them—the living and the dead—a lasting peace.

There is nothing adequate which any one in any place can say to those who are entitled to display the gold star in their windows. But each night as the people of the United States rest in their homes which have been safe from violence during all these years of the most violent war in all history—I am sure that all of them silently give thought to their feelings of deep gratitude to the brave departed and to their families for the immeasurable sacrifice that they have made for the cause of decency and freedom and civilization.

Political Fight Ended.

I do not want to talk to you tonight of partisan politics. The political battle is finished. Our task now is to face the future as a militant and a united people—united here at home as well as on the battle fronts.

Twice in 25 years our people have had to put on a brave, smiling front as they have suffered the anxiety and the agony of war.

No one wants to endure that suffering again.

When we think of the speed and long distance possibilities of air travel to the remotest corners of the earth, we must consider the devastation wrought on the people of England by the new long-range bombs. Another war would be bound to bring even more devilish and powerful instruments of destruction to wipe out civilian populations. No coastal defenses, however strong, could prevent these silent missiles of death, fired perhaps from planes or ships at sea, from crashing deep within the United States.

This time, this time, we must be certain that the peace-loving nations of the world band together in determination to outlaw and prevent war.

Voting as Free People.

Tomorrow, you the people of the United States, again vote as free men and women, with full freedom of choice—with no secret police watching over your shoulders. And for generations to come Americans will continue to prove their faith in free elections.

But when the ballots are cast, your responsibilities do not cease. The public servants you elect cannot fulfill their trust unless you, the people, watch and advise them, raise your voices in protest when you believe your public servants to be wrong, back them up when you believe them to be right.

But not for one single moment can you now or later forget the all-important goals for which we are aiming—to win the war and unite our fighting men with their families at the earliest moment, to see that all have honorable jobs; and to create a world peace organization which will prevent this disaster from ever coming upon us again.

To achieve these goals we need strength and wisdom which is greater than is bequeathed to mere mortals. We need divine help and guidance. We people of America have ever had a deep well of religious strength, far back to the days of the Pilgrim fathers.

He Reads a Prayer.

And so, on this thoughtful eve, I believe that you will find it fitting that I read a prayer sent to me not long ago:

"Almighty God, of whose righteous will all things are and were created, Thou hast gathered our people out of many lands and races into a great nation.

"We commend to Thy overruling Providence the men and women of our forces, by sea, by land and in the air;

"Beseeching Thee to take into Thine own hands both them and the cause they serve.

"Be Thou their strength when they are set in the midst of so many and great dangers. And grant that whether by life or by death they may win for the whole world the fruits of their sacrifice and a just peace.

"Guide, we beseech Thee, the nations of the world, into the way of justice and truth, and establish among them that peace which is the reward of righteousness.

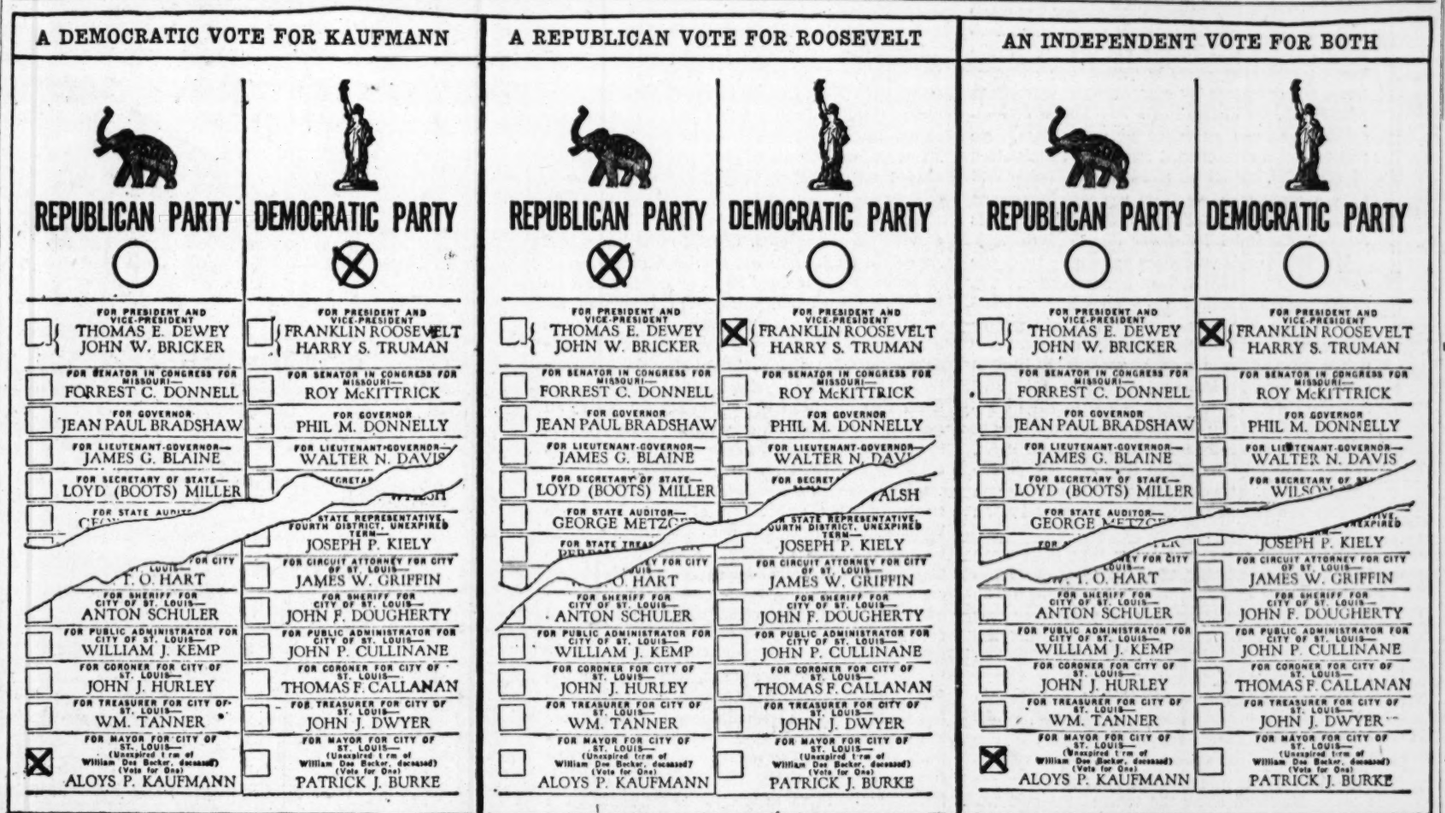
"Make the whole people of this land equal to our high trust, reverent in the use of freedom, just in the exercise of power, generous in the protection of weakness.

"Enable us to guard for the least among us the freedom we covet for ourselves; make us ill content with the inequalities of opportunity which still prevail among us. Preserve our union against all the divisions of race and class which threaten it.

"And now may the blessing of God Almighty rest upon this whole land; may He give us light to guide us, courage to support us, charity to unite us, now and forever more.

"Amen."

How to Vote for Roosevelt for President, Kaufmann for Mayor



BY marking an X in the circle at the top of the Democratic column, as illustrated above, and by adding an X in the square to the left of Mayor Kaufmann's name, the voter casts his ballot for President Roosevelt and all other Democratic nominees except Patrick J. Burke, for Mayor. The middle portions of the ballots above are omitted as they are not involved in the markings illustrated.

THE X in the circle at the top of the Republican column, as shown in the illustration above, with an X added in the square to the left of President Roosevelt's name, makes this ballot count for President Roosevelt and Mayor Kaufmann, but not for Thomas E. Dewey, the Republican presidential nominee. Thus the ballot, as marked, counts for Mayor Kaufmann and all other Republican candidates except for President.

THIS illustration shows how an independent voter casts his ballot for Roosevelt and Kaufmann by disregarding the circle at the top of both ballots. Under this method the voter marks an X in front of each candidate he favors. This practice is followed by voters who vote for many candidates of both parties.

Dewey Text: 'Do We Dare Not to Make a Change?'

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 7 (AP).

FOLLOWING is the text of the radio address of Gov. Dewey from the executive mansion here last night:

We come tonight to the eve of an election that may be the most fateful in our history. It is a test for each of us of our devotion to the American system of government. The great test is whether, knowing we need a new administration, we will make the change necessary to speed victory and to build the peace to come.

These years 1945 to 1949 will be impotrant, difficult years. They will require vigorous, hard-working, harmonious leadership, with abiding faith in America. But there has arisen in this campaign an argument that the people dare not change administrations because our country is in the midst of a great ordeal.

Of course, there is nothing new in that argument. It was used four years ago, when we were at peace. In other countries, this same argument has been the pretext upon which men, originally voted into power by the people, have suspended popular government and maintained themselves indefinitely in power.

Long ago, Thomas Jefferson pointed out that "there will never be a time when real difficulties will not exist and furnish a plausible pretext" for not making a change.

30 Years of Crises.

In our own lives, we have seen a nearly unbroken period of crisis after crisis for 30 years. We have known war and depression and boom and depression and war again. During much of that time, it could have been argued that the state of the nation and the world was so critical that we ought not risk a change in administration. In the last analysis, the whole argument comes down to a bald plea for the re-election—so long as he lives—of whoever happens to be President.

But that, we know, is the opposite of a free system of government. So it is clear that if we are going to do our duty tomorrow, we must lay aside every other consideration and decide how best our country can be served these next four years.

In the course of this campaign, I have, honorably and to the best of my capacity, presented the reasons why I believe so earnestly that the welfare of our country requires a new administration.

Now, for a few minutes, I should like to talk to you not as a candidate, but as a fellow citizen who is privileged by your courtesy in listening, to come into your home and talk with you.

Question Before Voters.

You are concerned, as I am, about the progress of the war. You are thinking day and night of someone who is facing death and hardship on the far-off battle lines of this war. And so, as you prepare to cast your vote tomorrow, the first question you ask yourself is this: What is the best way to make sure of a speedy and victorious end of the war? Will it help to shorten the war and assure quicker return of our fighting men if we have a change of administration?

I deeply believe that it will. I would have refused the nomination of my party for President if I did not believe so, with all my heart and soul. I have made it altogether clear from the beginning, that a change in our civilian government will mean no change in the military conduct of the war. Our chiefs of staff, Adm. King and Gen. Marshall, are doing a magnificent job. They are directing the movement of troops and of supplies and the grand military strategy that will carry our armies and navies to victory. The other commanders—Eisenhower, Nimitz, Arnold, MacArthur, Halsey and all the others—are carrying on to their objectives. Their hands will be strengthened by the end of civilian confusion in Washington.

We all know that the war is being fought. Not only on the fighting front, but also on the home front. Everyone has had a chance to see the administration's part in the war effort at home—to watch the operation of the scores of agencies that have to do with the daily lives of our people.

'Confusion' at Home.

Everyone has been sickened by the constant conflicts and shifting policies of these agencies, as well as in the handling of war production, of transportation, the problem of rubber and of other strategic supplies. Let me ask you one simple question: Do you believe the job at home is being handled as well as possible? I think everyone, from the housewife who struggles with a new rationing problem every week, to the industrial executive who struggles with priorities and allocations—everyone will agree that we need improvement and need it badly.

The things we can see and know about are only a fraction of the confusion and contradiction that exist in our whole civilian war effort. Multiply these a million times and it becomes clear why it is that the war is not coming to an end more rapidly.

Gen. Eisenhower has told us twice that the war in Europe would be ended in 1944 if everyone at home would do his part. Gen. Eisenhower has never changed that statement. It is Mr. Roosevelt who now tells us that the war has still a long way to go. Plainly, things have not been going in Washington as well as Gen. Eisenhower expected and had a right to expect. That is the basic reason why we should install in Washington a vigorous and competent administration that will put into the war effort at home a purpose and unity equal to that of our military leaders on the fighting fronts.

'Change Desperately Needed.'

We want to bring this war to a speedy, victorious conclusion, to save unnecessary loss of life, unneeded hardship and sorrow. The question is no longer—do we dare to make a change in administrations? The question is: Do we dare not to make a change when our own everyday experience, and the testimony of our eyes and ears cries out that a change is desperately needed.

Now there is another thing that you and I want. We want to make sure that this war shall be the last war; that this tragedy shall never happen again. Like a great light in a darkened world shines the nearly unanimous determination of our people to join together with the people of other nations in setting up a world organization for peace.

Much has been done to prepare the general principles that will govern the establishment of such an organization. I have been happy to contribute to our unity for this cause by lifting it above partisan debate. But the hardest part of the task is still ahead. So far as American participation is concerned, the difficult details must be worked out between the Congress and the President.

I have unlimited faith that it can be done by a President and a Congress working together, in harmony. It will take hard work, patience and understanding upon all sides.

In the name of those who are fighting and dying in the cause of freedom, we dare not risk leaving this vital labor in the hands of those who have grown tired and quarrelsome from 12 years in office. History must not repeat itself.

No Return to Breadlines.

And history must not repeat the breadlines and soup kitchens to which our soldiers returned after the last war, under another tired, war-weary administration. After this war is over, 11 million men in our fighting forces will come home. They are entitled to find here an opportunity to realize in peace the things for which they are fighting. How can we best make sure that they will have those opportunities? We cannot—we must not return to leaf-raking and doles. We cannot forget that under the New Deal it took a war to get jobs. Here again the question is not whether we dare to make a change. It is clear that we must not risk failing to make a change.

These, then, are the simple tests that must govern the decision of every American tomorrow. When you step into the secrecy of the polling booth, ask yourself these questions:

How can I help shorten the war?

How can I help secure lasting peace?

How can I help give useful jobs and opportunity in the years that lie beyond our victory?

If you will soberly ask yourself these questions and will think the answers through in the light of your knowledge, I have no doubt of the outcome.

Duty to Vote.

And let us agree on one more thing. No matter how you vote—it is the duty of every American to vote tomorrow.

Let no one say: "My vote will never be missed."

Your vote does count—it counts mightily in the result—and to you. Your secret ballot is your badge of citizenship. Keep it bright—and secure. If you neglect to vote, you leave your destiny to the decision of others; only you can preserve your own freedom.

If everyone will vote, there can be no danger to our country. Of that I am sure—because I firmly believe in the eternal rightness of the people.

And now, may I read you a letter I have just received from a brave American woman whose son will never return. It is brief. This is the entire letter:

"Dear Gov. Dewey: I am giving you my support and I hope it will help you to win. You cannot bring back my son, lost in the South Pacific, but you can and will, I think, bring back the kind of America he would have wanted to come home to."

It is to that cause that we are dedicated.

'Nightmare of Past.'

We stand today on one of the strange promotories of human history, with the shadows of a dismal, stormy night behind us and the first gray streaks of dawn in the sky beyond us. For 30 years since 1914—nearly half the span of human life—we have seen a series of wars, revolutions, depressions — Communism, Fascism, Nazism, cruelty and suffering, and finally another conflagration that has engulfed the world. At home we have had 12 unhappy years of turmoil and dissension, of group conflicts and class strife, of divisions and hatreds and antagonisms.

Half a generation has grown up knowing no other atmosphere. I believe our children—our whole country can again live in a world where peace, friendship and mutual respect abide. After we're through with the war and get our boys back home, then we must have a period of peace and calm within our own country. Only in that way can we build the unity and strength to meet our problems at home—to support our labors abroad, for the peace of the world.

Let us resolve to put aside these years of cynicism and of conflict. Let us resolve to put aside every antagonism, to throw off the nightmare of past years and breathe once more the atmosphere of courage and good will. Our people then can have a chance once more to build, to create and get ahead.

Under divine guidance, the people of America are stirring with awakening faith — faith in our country—in our future — in our unity.

There is awakening a renewed sense of the dignity of the individual, of trust in the moral law. Once again, may we have and always keep that faith in ourselves and in our neighbors—faith of our fathers—living faith in Almighty God.

Rawson Jailed In Argentina for Defending U. S.

Ex - President Arrested — Urged Participation in Continents' Unity.

By Overseas News Agency.

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 7.

TEXT of the press interview which resulted in the arrest of Gen. Arturo Rawson in Salta Province Oct. 29 was received here today, disclosing that Rawson had condemned opposition to the United States as "criminal" and had called for Argentine participation in "this continent's unity and defense without making difficulties."

Gen. Rawson, who held the presidency for one day following the June 1943 revolution, had recently been given an army command in the northern province of Salta in what was considered to be unofficial exile. It was there that he granted an interview to a reporter of the newspaper La Provincia, owned by the former conservative presidential candidate Robustiano Patron Costas. As a result of the interview, the paper was closed and three members of its staff were arrested.

What Rawson Said.

Following are excerpts from the interview:

"We must develop our diplomacy. Since we have the privilege of being part of the American nations, we must contribute to this continent's unity and defense without making difficulties. We will not obtain anything by sheer force . . . we must not aspire to gain supremacy over other Latin American countries.

"The United States has been placed by history in a privileged place in this hemisphere. Notwithstanding this, our position as a producer of raw materials is important and our perspective extends to such faraway continents as Asia.

"I believe that our sovereignty can be better defended through diplomacy. Therefore we need capable men to do this. To oppose the United States is criminal."

Calamity If Nazis Win.

Rawson was further quoted as declaring that a German victory would have been "a terrible calamity for us." He concluded the interview with the remark: "It is necessary that certain things happen to you in order to be able to see and understand better and to appreciate in all its value what it means to live in freedom and under a democracy."

Rawson was arrested while en route to Buenos Aires from his Salta command. He was taken from his train at Santa Lucia by military authorities and taken to First Division headquarters.

Two months earlier he was held under house arrest for eight days for participating in uniform in street demonstrations celebrating the liberation of Paris which had taken an anti-Government turn.

12 BILLIONS IN TAX REFUNDS SOUGHT BY CORPORATIONS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP).—Corporations are asking for refunds totaling about 12 billion dollars in excess profits taxes, the Bureau of Internal Revenue estimated yesterday.

Commissioner Joseph D. Nunan Jr. said this amount was involved in applications already filed or in preparation under the internal revenue code in which Congress provided a method of relief in cases where the tax is unfair.

"We have trained a large and competent staff of accounting, economic and legal experts to examine these applications so that they may be judged as fairly and carefully as possible," Nunan said.

GOV. DONNELL PROCLAIMS NOV. 23 THANKSGIVING DAY

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 7 (AP).—Gov. Forrest C. Donnell, declaring that "notwithstanding the war which now rages, the people of Missouri have much reason to be thankful for the blessings of freedom which are ours," yesterday proclaimed Nov. 23 as Missouri's Thanksgiving day. Missouri's Thanksgiving will be the same day as that in all but five or six other states.

MATTEOTTI MURDER CASE REOPENED; ROME COURT ANNULS FASCIST VERDICT

ROME, Nov. 7 (AP).

THE Court of Cassation yesterday ordered reopening of the celebrated Giacomo Matteotti case, annulling the sentences imposed by Fascist courts on those convicted of killing the famed Socialist deputy in 1926. All were pardoned under Mussolini after serving brief terms.

The motion to reopen the case was made by Mario Berlinguer, high commissioner for punishment of Fascist crimes, who said Fascist pressure prevented a fair trial at the time.

Anti-Fascists have contended for a generation that Benito Mussolini himself was directly involved in the murder. It is uncertain when the retrial will be held.

But here's where you're in danger of kicking YOURSELF

There's no Radar or any other detector to tip off Winter's first crackdown. It usually beats official Wintertime by weeks, and fills up the auto radiator shops double-quick. Chances are you'll want to kick yourself then, if you go skipping your Super Pyro anti-freeze now.

Don't put it off; put it in this soon. Then if all the next six warmish Autumn weeks bring only six cold days, you'll still have your radiator. And the usual prudent checking will generally show plenty of Super Pyro for all sorts of cold scheduled later. Neither pre-Winter WARMTH right now, nor your engine's normal 160-degree HOTNESS will steal away too much Super Pyro. That's why this anti-freeze will give you low-cost safety per mile and per gallon, even though you start your Super Pyro season way back now. You must, to be safe. But the Super Pyro supply is limited. Hurry.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare; never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Two Election Forecasts

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

If you are interested in an amateur's analysis of the election polls, this is my effort:

Roosevelt will, of course, carry the 11 states of the Solid South, also Utah and Arizona, also California, Washington, Montana, Nevada, Kentucky and Rhode Island. However, some of these last six states might be close. This gives Roosevelt 19 states with 190 electoral votes.

Dewey will carry the farm states which have few large cities. They are North Dakota, South Dakota, Colorado, Nebraska, Kansas and Iowa. He will also carry Maine and Vermont. The large states of Ohio, Michigan, Indiana and Wisconsin will be close, but I believe Dewey will eke out a victory in these states. This gives Dewey 12 states with 115 electoral votes.

This leaves 17 "battleground" states. In some, Roosevelt seems to have an edge; in others, Dewey is a slight favorite. Several states are running neck-and-neck.

To win, Dewey must carry 151 votes from these states. Roosevelt must carry only 76. For Dewey to win he must carry New York, Pennsylvania and Illinois, states with very large cities. If he can do this, then he should have enough strength also to carry New Jersey, Missouri, Minnesota and some smaller states.

Dewey needs practically all the breaks, and such luck seldom happens. It is like tossing a coin three times, and for Dewey to win, he must call it correctly on every toss.

Under the circumstances, it looks like Roosevelt will win. The electoral vote could be close, or a big margin for Roosevelt. The popular vote will be close.

C. D. P. HAMILTON JR.
Clayton.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Nov. 7, 1944, will bring another great victory to Franklin D. Roosevelt. I predict that Roosevelt will win by at least a 3-to-1 majority in the electoral college. I predict that his victory will be of landslide proportions in the nation, that he will carry all the Southern states, that he will carry all the border states, and that he will carry Missouri, Illinois, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Delaware, New Jersey, California, Oregon, Washington, Nevada, Montana, Idaho, Arizona and Utah.

In Missouri, the Democrats will elect the entire state ticket, without exception, and will also elect Patrick J. Burke Mayor of St. Louis with a majority of at least 8000 votes. Only one Democratic incumbent Senator will be defeated, Guy M. Gillette of Iowa, and the Democrats will regain more than 40 seats in Congress. The Democrats will regain seats in the First, Second, Third, Eighth and Eleventh districts in Missouri. No incumbent in Congress of this State will be defeated. Roy McKittrick will be elected Senator and Phil M. Donnelly will be elected Governor.

Check these figures with official election returns. Do not come to any conclusions contrary to this prediction until the vote of the armed forces has been tabulated.

Ashamed of Throop

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

As a graduate of Washington University I was deeply ashamed to hear Dr. Throop use the hateful phrase "alien-born." (About Sidney Hillman.—Editor's note.)

We have a right to expect genuine Americanism from our educators, not the bogus "America-first" brand.

No wonder I had to learn my lesson in liberalism AFTER I left the campus!

Intercession for Pablo Casals

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Music lovers and freedom lovers alike are interested in learning what has happened to Pablo Casals, one of the greatest 'cellists of all time. Casals was, and I believe still is, a political prisoner of butcher Franco and his murderous Fascists.

A talent and artistry such as Pablo Casals' would and can enrich the lives of people everywhere, regardless of nationality. Each day that he continues to rot in one of Franco's concentration camps is one day more that we are deprived of his music.

Mr. Roosevelt should be apprised of this situation; he can do much to win for himself a place in the hearts of posterity by gaining freedom for this man. By using the great influence of his office as President, Mr. Roosevelt can start and probably finish a campaign to free Pablo Casals by making formal protest to the Spanish Government.

Hospital Service Only

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

It seems to me the new Missouri medical plan is a misnomer. It is not a medical plan, as it provides service for only hospitalized cases.

We are told that more than 90 per cent of all sickness can be prevented by proper medical treatment. Why do the doctors want to wait and let the patients get in the hospital? Are there available rooms in our hospitals for such a program?

Dedication to Democracy

America today offers a spectacle to be seen nowhere else in the warring world—the spectacle of a people going to the polls and choosing, by free and secret ballot, the officers of its Government—national, state and local.

It is a superb demonstration of our democracy's vitality and meaning.

There have been fearful souls who thought that elections, with all their distractions and fierce debates, should be called off for the duration, lest they disrupt national unity. This reasoning, it is fortunate, did not prevail. There was no real attempt to set aside our constitutional requirements for a quadrennial vote on the presidency, for election of a new House of Representatives and one-third of the Senate. No official holds a prolonged tenure by cancellation of elections. Each of those chosen today will have a fresh mandate from the people, formed in full consciousness of national and local needs for wartime and for postwar reconstruction.

The British system differs materially from our own, but in essence it also is democratic. Yet in England there have been no elections since long before the war began. Prime Minister Churchill remarked the other day that no voter under 30 had ever cast a vote at a general election. The Parliament elected in 1935 still sits, with only by-election choices to fill its vacancies. This is the British preference, and it would not be seemly for Americans to criticise. Yet we can still be proud that our democracy has chosen to adhere to requirement and custom despite the nation's necessary concentration on the war effort.

The ballots being cast today thus have more than ordinary meaning. They signify a new dedication to our great principle of government by the people, a reaffirmation of a democracy that draws its strength from the grassroots and the city streets as our people mark their ballots and await the returns.

The polling places over the length and breadth of America are the altars of democracy, wherever they may be—in vacant stores, in the rear of barbershops, in church basements, in schoolrooms, in garages and libraries and hardware stores. To these come the voters of America—the housewife leaving her domestic duties, the aged man rising from his sickbed, the 18-year-old youth of Georgia, the business man, the clerk, the teacher, the mechanic, the rancher driving 30 miles along a mountain trail.

All these men and women speak for America. Their collective wisdom, as assembled today, will shape the policies of our country for the next four years and longer. Their choices are added to those expressed in the millions of service men's ballots now locked in the vaults of Election Boards over the country, for the fighting absentee's vote is of high importance in this election.

Yes, America can afford an election in wartime. To call it off would have been far more disturbing than to hold it. For the will of the majority is the accepted law of our country. Whatever the outcome today, from the presidency down to the minor courts, the verdict will be accepted, the harsh words of the campaign season will pass into limbo, losers will join hands with winners for the greater good of all.

The day is a solemn and historic one. It is living proof of the solidity of our democratic institutions and the devotion they evoke from our people.

Well Done, St. Louis

Over the top it is with the St. Louis War Chest after a campaign which reached a new high in the dignity of its conduct. Thereupon a hearty round of congratulations is in order.

Especially notable was the midtown Negro district, which was first to reach its quota and highest over at the end. Good work was done in all the other districts, too, and all reached or exceeded their quotas. Thanks, too, to the committee and the 30,000 unsung solicitors who made the campaign move by their unselfish gift of time and fervor.

And of course, in the largest sense, congratulations to all who saw the need and responded. Against the competitive claims of taxes, high prices and Christmas shopping, that is no small achievement.

The Singapore Raid

If the B-29s can cover such tremendous distances as from India bases to Singapore, the day may not be far off when systematic attack with heavy bombs can be unleashed on Japanese home industry. Indeed, if Jap reports of American scout flights over Honshu are to be credited, this may be already preparing, waiting only on sufficient progress in the Philippines to establish adequate bases there. The Central and Northern Philippines are no farther from Tokyo than Singapore is from India.

Our strategists have somewhat "spoiled" us by leading us to expect new invasions after these long-distance exploits. If that does not happen in the present instance, we may still be happy that it brings nearer the day when Japanese maritime power shall cease to be, for when that day comes, the home islands will be vulnerable to everything we can throw at them —which, as the recent record says, is plenty.

Court Victory for the Consumer

A long fight to protect the public from exploitation in the purchase of a food product came to a successful end yesterday when the United States Supreme Court unanimously upheld the conviction of the Carolene Products Co. of Litchfield, Ill., on a charge of violating the Filled Milk Act.

This company's product consisted of skimmed milk to which vitamins and vegetable oil had been added. Though labeled "Not Evaporated Milk or Cream," it was alluringly advertised, resembled condensed or evaporated milk in packaging, and was assumed by many purchasers to be such a product. Merchants sometimes sold it as evaporated whole milk, or represented it as better than evaporated milk although cheaper, with the result that shoppers compelled to practice economy got a product lacking in the essential food elements found in butter-fat.

Cases have been brought against this company in 18 or more state courts, with some convictions and some dismissals on technical grounds, as in Missouri. Now for the first time the Supreme Court has ruled, and the result sustains the long-time contentions of Federal and private agencies which had urged protection for the consumer against the claims made for this product. The fines of $8000 imposed on the company, equal fines for two officers and one-year prison terms for each, all now upheld, prove that Uncle Sam means business.

The Truth We Know

Perhaps Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek could not reply in other fashion than he did to the inquiry from Kent Cooper of the Associated Press about Gen. Stilwell's recall from China. He called the President's explanation "adequate." He spoke of "excellent prospects" for real Chinese-American military, political and economic co-operation.

Yet, different as is the delicate Chinese point of view from our own, Chiang must know that American public opinion, free in expression and in judgment, is molded more by deeds and facts than by wishes and words. That opinion respects his statement as leader of China and as a man who has rejected compromise with the Japanese. But that opinion also respects the truth about China's grim internal troubles—the truth that has been written in sorrow but in all honesty by many of our most reliable correspondents who are now free from the merciless censorship of the China theater of war.

The truth still stands, unaffected by the necessarily guarded utterances of statesmen. We know that democracy is non-existent in Central China; that the one-party Kuomintang dictatorship makes most vicious use of secret police, concentration camps, firing squads, intimidation of press and public, censorship, the threat of civil war. We know, most grievously of all, that this country and our European allies may have to carry a disproportionate burden of war in the Far East because the Chungking dictatorship has made no peace with Chinese Communists.

We know that this disunited China can be almost as dangerous to us as it is to the rank and file of Chinese themselves, and that our admiration for them makes all possible pressure for Chinese unity more imperative than ever.

Finally, there is one thing that informed, freely expressed American public opinion cannot forget: We are engaged in a moral as well as physical fight against Fascism and all its instruments. We are fighting for the betterment and safety of all peoples everywhere. We fear Fascism as much in the war lords and masters of China as we fear it anywhere else in the world.

Winnie the Whimsy

The Wandering Minstrel has few equals in verbal coinage—"blood, sweat and tears" has gone into the language forever as Freedom's battle cry. But Winnie's art of the mot juste adapts to almost any situation, as witness his description to the Commons of Britain's party picture, now that the Conservatives, Labor and Liberal parties have worked together since Dunkerque and the fall of France: "The odor of dissolution is in the air."

There we have him in his subtlest whimsy, and there, too, we have the basic pattern of current British politics—the German war almost in its death rattle, and the English party truce about ready to be buried in the same grave. As Prime Minister, he sought and received a year before any election. But he did so in a most Puckish way, as though life is much too serious a matter to be treated seriously. Winnie the Whimsy, not Winnie the Pooh!

Bad Faith From Russia

Russia has refused the request of Switzerland to resume diplomatic relations. This refusal, and the memorandum in which reasons for it are given, come with very bad grace at a time when every peace-loving nation, regardless of size or power, should be seeking friendlier relations with other countries.

This is not a time for judging strained feelings between Switzerland and Russia in the prewar years. This is not a time to recall the unfortunate incident that took place in Geneva in 1923 —the assassination of the Russian diplomatist Vorovsky, head of the Soviet delegation to the Far East peace conference, by the Swiss Conradi, and the failure of Switzerland to settle the affair to the satisfaction of the Soviet Union. A nation of Russia's present power and importance can afford to have in such matters a shorter memory and a broader sense of responsibility.

Shooting Russia out of season is a favorite and dangerous sport of some people in this country. Their specialty is constant and intemperate criticism of an ally with whom this nation must work in war and in peace. But serious and concerned criticism of Russia comes fairly from those who have argued over a period of years for understanding of her. It is those who believe the Soviet Union and the United States must work together in the peace who are most disturbed by such events as this present show of muscle against small democratic Switzerland.

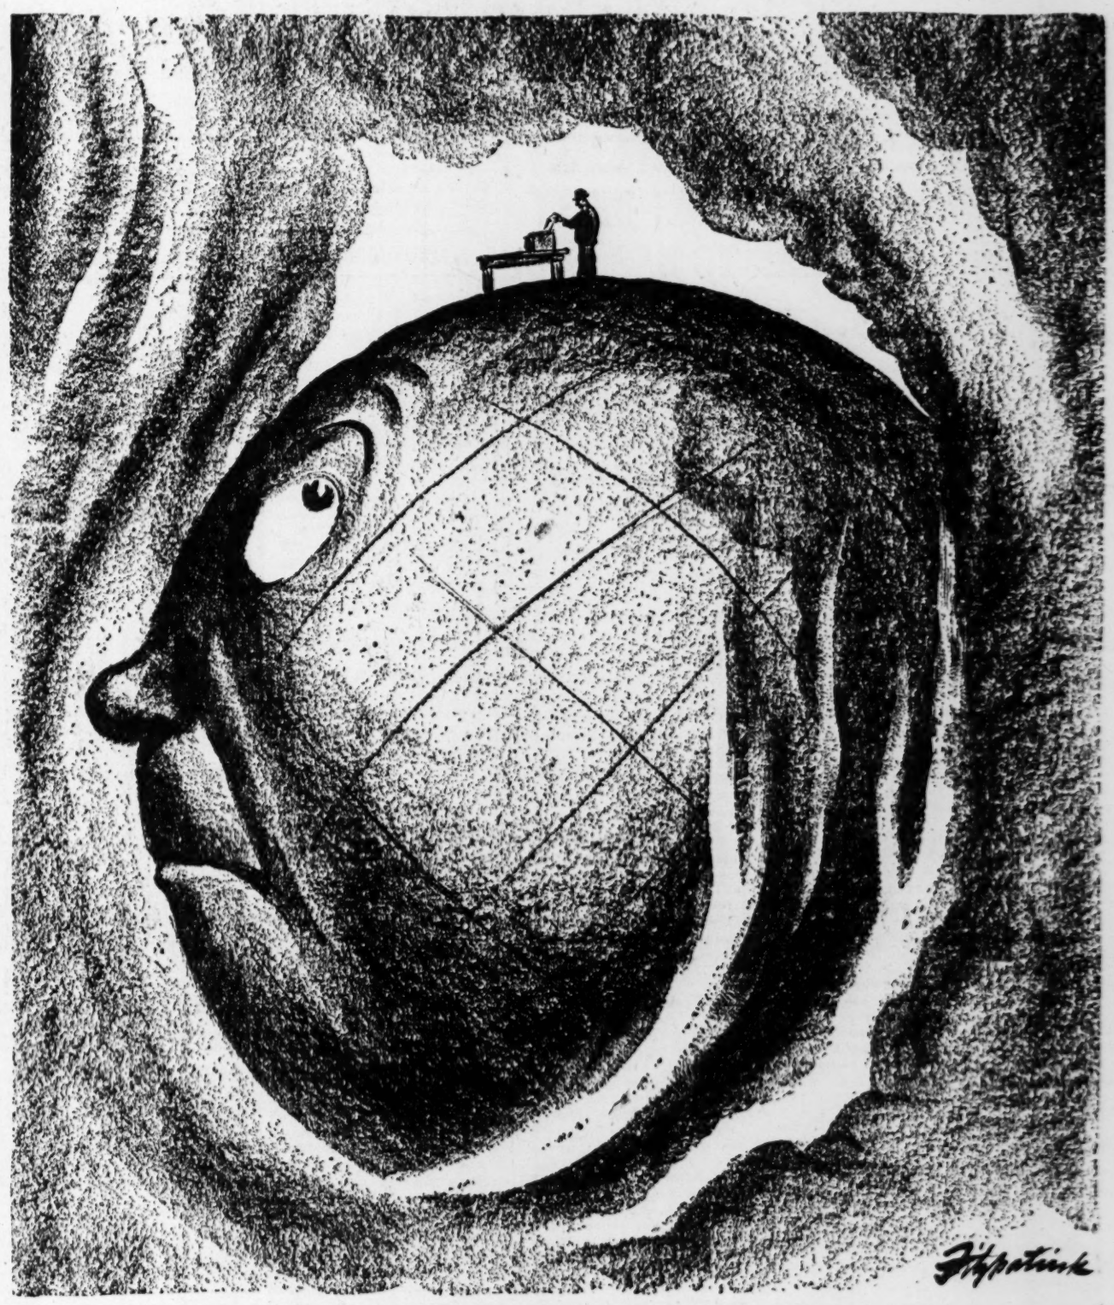
O Christmas Tree

Enough Christmas trees expected to meet all American demands this year . . .

But no Christmas trees on Guam and Leyte and Halmahera and Tarawa, where the druidical conifer grows not. Few in England, where custom decrees other manner of celebration. Only a few on the battlegrounds of Western Europe, where blood-letting cannot delay for a day of peace. A few, too in a Russia renascent in the faith that was Tolstoy's. But trees arboreal, corporeal or incorporeal, for the world's hosts who once again dare hope.

What of that unhappy land whence first came the Christmas tree? Trees there may be, for the roots go deep in Christian Germany and in the pagan darkness that once was in that land and has again descended. But what manner of tinsel, what tidbits, what stars and angels will those Teutonic branches bear in this year of little hope? What thoughts will run through German breasts when in 1944, as in ages immemorial, the chant of joy, gentleness, good will rises in the bitter air: "O Tannenbaum, O Tannenbaum, Wie treu sind deine Blaetter"?

The complaint seems to be that Chiang Kai-shek didn't get out his best China.



DAY OF THE AMERICAN VOTER

Congress Needs Streamlining

The Mirror of Public Opinion

National Legislature's utter inadequacy to supervise administrative agencies is disclosed by drafter of plan for reform; present organization on Capitol Hill little changed since 1893; three major proposals made for modernizing the machinery of policy formation.

From a Radio Address by Representative Mike Monroney of Oklahoma, Co-Author of a Pending Concurrent Resolution

I am pleading for action on Concurrent Resolution No. 23, introduced by Senator Maloney of Connecticut and myself. This provides for a bi-partisan joint committee of the House and Senate to study and recommend ways of improving the organization, machinery and effectiveness of Congress in our government. Behind this resolution is the deep-seated feeling of many of us in Congress that, unless the representative system is strengthened, Congress will fade out as an effective control by the people of their Government.

Few people outside Congress know or realize how far these monumental problems of supervising the administration of our Government of the world's largest organization has outstripped the machinery of Congress to do an effective job of control.

It Must Be Modernized

More than 95 per cent of the present congressional organization, with its committee-system workshop, has remained almost unchanged since 1893, the date of the last reorganization of the Congress. Yet though still saddled with most of this ancient machinery and methods, Congress refuses to adopt modern mechanical and technical aids for its supervisory work, despite the fact that the job its machinery was designed to control was only 3-100 of 1 per cent the size of the task it has today.

No directors could possible run General Motors without modern mechanical means, a thoroughgoing modernization and departmentalization of its work and adequate personnel to keep itself informed on what is going on in the plant and other departments of the business. Yet today, with but few additions, congressional machinery adopted in 1893 creaks and groans under the pressure of problems a thousand-fold greater than any industrial organization must meet.

There are today 145 Government bureaus and departments in the Federal plant, each of which employs more people than are in the entire congressional staff: The Office of Indian Affairs spends more than twice as much to supervise the nation's Indians as it costs to operate Congress.

The principal duty of Congress is to draft, study and pass legislation. Yet the legislative drafting service is so limited that only five attorneys are available for the entire House membership of 435, and only three for the Senate. The total cost of this basic service runs $83,000 a year.

When Economy Is Blind

The appropriation committees perhaps best example this blind economy. The Senate Appropriations Committee has four clerks and the House eight, plus a few extra investigators on loan from Government departments, a number hopelessly inadequate properly to challenge, investigate and study the requests that enter into this year's total of 78 billions of appropriations.

Only an alert and well-informed Congress can know where to reduce expenditures. A little money spent to analyze, study, simplify and graphically chart increases in departmental expenditure by an adequate Congressional appropriation staff, plus investigators to determine whether money requested is actually needed, would pay dividends a hundred-fold.

Yet so niggardly is Congress in providing the machinery it needs that we find leaders on the appropriating committees openly advocating that Congress "borrow" experts from the Government departments to help the appropriation committees. This illustrates the danger that Congress will still further slide out of the picture as one of the three branches of our Government.

Research Staff Too Small

Tens of millions of dollars are appropriated annually for research and statistics in most of the larger departments, yet again Congress, which needs to have correct and unbiased information in reaching its conclusions on legislation, must rely on the hopelessly inadequate Legislative Reference Service in the Library of Congress. This career service, designed to be a research staff to Congress, attempts to cope with the problem with only 66 on its entire staff, 44 of whom receive less than $2600 a year salary. The one expert on the immense problem of foreign and domestic commerce, is a $3200-a-year man!

Congress has recognized the need in many cases through the years for reorganization, regrouping and simplification of the Government plant, yet has never in more than 50 years turned the spotlight upon itself. And Congress alone can give the order to modernize itself.

Concurrent Resolution No. 23 proposes a non-partisan joint-committee study and for recommendations as to necessary change and renovation. This study should include analysis and modernization of the committee system; proper staffing of Congress, its committees and its members, and improvement in relationships between Congress and the Government departments.

What Can Be Done

Both houses could sharply reduce the number of committees, consolidate overlapping activities and more clearly define their jurisdiction. The committee is the workshop in Congress and the effectiveness of legislation depends on how well the committee work is performed.

In addition the individual members of Congress need access to improved research facilities. This should be provided by enlarging the Legislative Reference Service in the Library of Congress. Researchers who could supply on short notice necessary statistics and data would relieve Congress from dependence on government, department or business organizations for "handouts."

The third point for study involves means of improving the relationships between the Government departments and Congress. For 20 years, the gulf between Congress and departmental government or "bureaucracy" has been widening. Under the Constitution, the executive departments and Congress are two separate and distinct branches of our Government, but it was never intended that they go opposite ways.

A USEFUL GAME.

From the Indianapolis News.

Japan apparently was too busy with military training to learn the strategic advantages of such an American game as leapfrog.

Imperialism in Africa Assailed In Book by a Prince of Nigeria

"Without Bitterness," by A. A. Nwafor Orizu. (Creative Age Press, New York.)

The author of this book is a 24-year-old native African Prince from Onitsha in Southern Nigeria, West Africa. He came to the United States five years ago, studied at Lincoln and Ohio State universities, and received his master's degree from Columbia this year.

The title is explained in the introduction as follows: "I have discovered that there is no real and natural bitterness among races and nations. This book is written for those who have grown beyond race and nation—for those who will join me in a humble suspension of our preconceived judgments about other peoples and other countries, to bring Africa to the consciousness of the world, so that the Western world may know that Africa is indignant with European imperialism at it has been, as it is and as some planners still want it to be. We have a legitimate program for African irredentism, which we shall carry through without bitterness."

After a general survey of the African continent, with particular reference to its division among the European powers, Orizu enters into a detailed discussion of his own country, Nigeria. The population of this British protectorate is estimated at 20 to 30 millions, but only about 8000 of its people are non-Nigerians. Quite naturally, Nigerians feel that their country should enjoy independence.

Orizu is not entirely without bitterness when he reviews the progress of European imperialism and the record of Christianity in Africa, and seems sometimes swayed by emotion rather than governed by reason. He concedes, however, that the British Government does not quarrel with the legitimate aspiration of the Nigerian people to be strong and independent of external control, and he suggests that Christianity may be acceptable to Africans when they are convinced that its exponents are not tools of imperialism.

A program for the "New Africa" is to be found in what Orizu calls Zikism. This term comes from the name of Nnamdi Azikiwe, owner of half of Nigeria's six daily newspapers, whose record of opposition to the British Government has made him somewhat of a hero. Educated in this country, Azikiwe has had great influence on certain elements of the native population since his return to Nigeria in 1934.

As spokesman for a West African press delegation to Great Britain in 1934, Azikiwe pleaded for Nigerian independence on the basis of the Atlantic Charter, which promises to all people the right to choose the form of government under which they are to live. He asked for internal self-government for 10 years, to be followed by withdrawal of British administration after an additional five years of full self-government under British tutelage.

Africa, with its millions of people and its tremendous natural resources, will inevitably pose problems in the postwar period which will call for justice and careful planning. In presenting the African viewpoint, Orizu has made a worthwhile contribution. His chapters on Nigerian life and customs before the coming of the British are especially well done and informative.

EDGAR ANSEL MOWRER

A New Start With China

WITH Gen. Stilwell and Ambassador Gauss out of Chungking, the way is again open for re-establishing Sino-American relations on the traditional friendly basis, as Chinese Foreign Minister T. V. Soong has indicated.

A reversal of the unsuccessful "tough line" inaugurated by Ambassador Gauss and Brig. Gen. John Magruder back in 1941 was essential. Chinese aid in beating Japan, active and direct, has become vitally necessary to the United States. Without it, the difficulties of adequate landings on the China coast are immensely enhanced. To talk of "stopping American aid to China" at a moment like this was merely childish.

Let us never forget that China is uncompromisingly Chinese. The inhabitants glory in 4000 years of unbroken history. During this period, they have developed indelible habits. Some of these are doubtless antiquated. But the Chinese are not going to change them overnight just because foreigners say they should. They could not if they would—and they do not want to. The American military problem is to get the maximum of military aid out of the Chinese as they are, not to start on the impossible task of making them over.

But the Chinese are not only Chinese. They are also intensely human. When they are browbeaten by foreigners, even by ostensibly friendly Americans, they grow stubbornly patriotic.

Aided by Our Attacks.

American attacks on Chiang Kai-shek have not weakened, they have strengthened, the Generalissimo's position. Chinese critics of Chiang rallied to his defense when China's alleged friends abroad began abusing him. To expect anything else was a sign of political immaturity.

In the same way, exaggerated praise by Americans of the Chinese Communists for partly mythical virtues (democracy!) does not hasten an agreement between the Communists and the Government.

Does this mean that all is well in the Chinese Government? By no means. Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek has been visibly slipping. Too much power for too long a time has gone to his head. Little by little, he has dropped from the inner circle of his advisers the honest critics and the moralists.

Bad Signs in China.

The Kuomintang, founded by the great Sun Yat-sen to reform China, has come under the influence of the war lords, landlords and Shanghai racketeers. Its leading members fiercely resist the introduction of that democracy which was the ideal of its founder. Postponement of the November meeting of the Central Executive Committee of the Kuomintang was a bad sign. The presence safely out of China of certain exalted Chinese personalities is another.

Then again, unless Chiang replaces his bad advisers by modern-minded Chinese, he is likely to find himself in retirement.

The situation in China is undoubtedly worsening. But this is a matter for the Chinese and not for the Americans to remedy. Outside interference is more likely to delay than to promote helpful reform. In fact, carried to extreme, such American interference might conceivably promote in China a civil war that would be a boon to Tokyo.

Departures May Do Good.

When one listens to some Americans talking about overthrowing the leader of 450,000,000, one rubs one's eyes. Just who do they think they (or we) are?

Nonetheless, the unlamented departure from China of Stilwell and Gauss opens the door for closer, more effective co-operation between the Chinese and the Americans. By yielding to Chiang Kai-shek, the American President has established a claim upon him.

Having "gained face" by refusal to yield to foreign ultimatum, the Generalissimo can properly be expected to replace those Chinese who have not been co-operating fully with the American military authorities. He can properly be asked to permit Donald Nelson's American experts to increase China's domestic output of war material.

We Must Give Guarantees.

We have a right to expect of Chiang, at the appropriate moment, the supreme military effort to retake the needed part of the China coast, regardless of heavy losses. He should yield to a request that he combine his forces with American, British and Filipino forces under one American theater commander.

These things the Generalissimo can do—and, I believe, will, if they are requested by Gen. Patrick Hurley as part of a general plan for liberating China quickly.

If we want more, if we wish political changes in China such as a compromise between the national and the Communist forces, then Washington must go farther. It must offer China a guarantee of territorial integrity. For without this, in view of what is happening in Poland and Yugoslavia, no bourgeois Chinese Government can be expected to share national sovereignty with a party that, rightly or wrongly, is regarded as the agent of a powerful foreign power on China's flank.

Notre Dame Drops to Fifth Place in Writers' Weekly Football Poll

Army Tops Ohio State And Navy

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP).—Army increased its standing as the country's No. 1 football team in today's Associated Press poll while Notre Dame, the West Point eleven's opponent for Saturday, skidded all the way to fifth following its 32 to 13 loss to Navy.

Ohio State's beardless civilians have taken up the task of pursuing Army in the opinion of the 106 football experts who voted. The Cadets, who have collected 360 points in their six games, garnered 58 first place votes and 974 points in the balloting.

The Buckeyes, undisputed leaders in the rugged Big Ten race, came next with 18 selections as the best team and an aggregate of 812 points. Notre Dame, erstwhile leader until replaced by Army a week ago, was without a single first place vote but collected 430 points in the voting.

Navy shot from sixth a week ago to third this time, a move that kept Randolph Field in fourth place despite its 68 to 0 conquest of North Texas Aggies.

The lower half of the top 10 underwent a huge shakeup with Bainbridge Naval and the Fourth Air Force barging in at the expense of Georgia Tech, spilled by Duke, and North Carolina Pre-Flight, Bainbridge's victim Sunday.

The Maryland sailors were sixth, followed by Iowa Pre-Flight, Michigan, the California fliers and Illinois in that order. Georgia Tech slumped to thirteenth and the Cloudbusters didn't stop their tumble until hitting sixteenth.

Army's two-week grasp on first place will be at stake in Saturdays' fray at Yankee Stadium in the annual game with Notre Dame. The Irish never have lost to both service schools in the same season. Army, early favorite, has not scored on the South Bend ramblers since 1938.

Michigan and Illinois also put their elite listing in jeopardy in their contest at Ann Arbor. Ohio State shouldn't have too tough a time against Pittsburgh and Randolph Field collides with Maxwell Field.

The leading teams determined on a basis of 10 points for each first place vote, nine for second, etc. (first place votes in parenthesis):

TOP TEN.
Army (58)	974
Ohio State (18)	812
Navy (1)	706
Randolph Field (18)	675
Notre Dame	430
Bainbridge Naval (6)	349
Iowa Pre-Flight	347
Michigan	342
Fourth Air Force (3)	163
Illinois	149

Second Ten—Southern California, 138; Wake Forest (1), 114; Georgia Tech, 98; Great Lakes, 94; Norman, Ok., Navy, 65; North Carolina Pre-Flight, 59; El Toro, Cal., Marines, 53; Tennessee, 47; Mississippi State, 41; Duke, 35.

Also Rans—Purdue, 21; Third Air Force, 20; Second Air Force, 12; Yale, 11; Oklahoma A. & M., 11; Melville (R. I.) Torpedo Boat Base (1), 10; Fort Pierce (Fla.) Amphibs, 10; Virginia, 7; Indiana, 7; Maxwell Field, 5; Auburn, 3; Alabama, 3; Tulsa, 2; Tulane, 2; North Carolina State, 1; Oklahoma, 1.

Ron Buckles Averages 271 in Open Pin Play

Ron Buckles, member of the American Iron and Steel team of the Classic Bowling League, went on a strike spree at Heidel's Recreation yesterday, rolling 1356 for five games and averaging 271 per game. Buckles, bowling in open play, rolled 864 in his first three games for an average of 288.

In compiling scores of 288, 299, 277, 214 and 278, Buckles had 49 strikes, one split and no misses.

Coach Emms Still Trying to Get New Players for Flyers

By Harold Flachsbart

Hockey teams usually jump from city to city several times each week, but the Flyers are facing the pleasant prospect of an extended home stand of almost three weeks, which will include five games at the Arena without a single road jaunt, starting tomorrow night against the Cleveland Barons.

Indianapolis will make its first appearance of the young American League season here Friday night and next week Tuesday the Hershey Bears, one of the top teams of the Eastern Division, will play in St. Louis for the first time.

Then follow games at the Arena between the Flyers and Buffalo, Nov. 21 and Nov. 24 before the local club takes to the road again to play at Pittsburgh, Nov. 25.

Coach Hap Emms of the Flyers, was still holding his thumbs today as he sent his club through a workout, hoping that no word would come of fines or suspensions from league headquarters because of a big free-for-all fight at Indianapolis last Sunday night.

Two St. Louis players—Vic Lynn and Johnny Baby—received match misconduct penalties, the result of a rumpus in the second period in which Dick Miller, Indianapolis club general manager, was also involved.

There were no serious St. Louis injuries, although Forward Ronnie Hudson had a couple of teeth knocked loose, but he will be in shape to play tomorrow.

Emms used new forward combinations for part of the Indianapolis game, lost by the Flyers, 6-3, but when two defensemen were ejected for the "duration," he has to switch Fred Hergert, a center, to guard duty. For the next few games, at least, Emms will use the veteran Freddie on a line with Bill Kendall and Winky Smith in an effort to get a better scoring punch.

Murry Richardson will work with Nick Evanshen and Fred Kovalchuk, with Orville Smith also fitting into this combination as center.

The Flyers coach said this morning he still had hopes of getting some new players to strengthen the club and last night sent out several "feeler" telegrams to that effect. He declined to name the men he sought.

Hornets Dominate Scoring.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 17 (AP).—Bob Gracie of Pittsburgh recorded two goals and set up a couple of tallies to hop from the bottom of the "leading nine" to third place in the American Hockey League's individual scoring race.

Gracie's scoring spree, the best of the past week, boosted his total to 11 points, two under Wendell Jamieson, the leader, and one less than Tony Hemmerling, runnerup. The three are Hornet teammates.

In fact, the Hornets dominate the list, occupying seven of the nine spots.

The leading scorers:

	G.	A.	Pts.
Jamieson, Pittsburgh	3	10	13
Hemmerling, Pittsburgh	8	4	12
Gracie, Pittsburgh	3	8	11
Klein, Pittsburgh	5	5	10
Bennett, Pittsburgh	2	7	9
MacDonald, Indianapolis	5	4	9
Walton, Pittsburgh	3	6	9

Race Track Opening Causes Big Increase In Plant Absenteeism

HAWTHORNE, Cal., Nov. 7 (AP).—NORTHROP AIRCRAFT, INC., said yesterday that its absenteeism increased 15 per cent over normal the first day and 27 per cent over normal the second day of the current horse race meeting at nearby Hollywood Park.

A spokesman for the War Manpower Commission said that agency was compiling reports on the effect, if any, of the resumption of racing on the aircraft industry as a whole.

Officials of the Hollywood Turf Club, which operates the track, had no immediate comment.

6000 See Louis In Exhibition Go

BALTIMORE, Nov. 7 (AP).—A capacity crowd of 6000 turned out in the coliseum last night, where Sgt. Joe Louis gave a three-round exhibition of the boxing skill that carried him to the world's heavyweight championship and middleweight Holman Williams won a unanimous verdict from Kid Tunera of Havana in the 10-round feature.

Louis fought Charley Crump, local heavyweight, and dropped him in the first round with a short right to the head. The Brown Bomber also rapped Crump sharply about the body with the 16-ounce gloves.

The crowd appeared favorably impressed by the way Louis looked and handled himself despite his long layoff from professional training.

After the exhibition Louis was asked by reporters if he had seen any promising fighters on his European tour of army camps and he said that some of the youngsters were "lively steppers."

However, he dismissed questions about the future of boxing after the war with:

"Let's win the war first."

In the main event, Williams, a Chicagoan, sparred through the first two sessions and then settled down to his task and outboxed and outpunched Tunera. Both were marked up when they left the ring. Williams weighed 161 and Tunera 156.

Springfield Teachers To Resume Athletics

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Nov. 7.—Springfield fans will see college football games again next fall after a "black-out" since 1942.

Announcement was made by Howard (Red) Blair, athletic director at Southwest State Teachers College, that a full-time athletic program had been agreed upon at a conference of the athletic staff and Dr. Roy Ellis, president of the college.

All sports at the college were abandoned in 1942 for the "duration," but Blair said football, basketball and track will come back next fall even if the war is not ended.

Hermanns Get 3186 for New Season Record

The Hermanns, former national match-game champions, set a new season's record for St. Louis pin-topplers last night, when they combined games of 1069, 1025 and 1092 for a 3186 total in the All-Star Bowling League at the Heidel Recreation. The figure places the team ninth in the nation, according to latest figures from the American Bowling Congress.

The big total enabled the quintet to win three from the Hoffmeisters, despite the fact that the losers totalled 3016, an average of better than 1000 a game. Every member of the Hermanns went over the 600 mark, with Roy Moore showing the way with 661. Sam Garofalo had 645, Frank Mataya 634, Joe Malizman 627 and Cone Hermann 619. Twelve of the team's 15 individual games were over the 200 mark. Tony Weiss paced the losers with 696, including 279, high single for the night.

In other matches, the Reinekes won three from the Mavrakos, Silver Seals two from Kutis and American Iron two from Laux-Hyde Parks. Chris Sottrel's 707 was the high three of the night.

Twenty-one of the 40 individuals had totals of better than 600, while four teams went over 3000.

Ron Buckles, who during a practice session in the afternoon had games of 288, 299, 277, 214 and 278 for an aggregate of 1356, an average of 271 for five games, came back with 219, 173 and 252 for a 644 count in the regular league matches.

Cicero Bowler Retains Lead in Chicago Meet

CHICAGO, Nov. 7 (AP). — An eight-game total of 1648, fashioned by the veteran Al Pasek of suburban Cicero, remained high today as half of the 512 bowlers in the fourth annual Diamond Medal Individual Classic posted their scores.

Eight more squads of 32 men each remain to shoot, one group tonight and the final seven this week end. With several all-stars listed, Pasek's top score in eight games across 16 alleys was expected to take a beating.

But 32 keglers failed to disturb the leader in last night's firing for the first prize of $2000. There was only one change among the first 15 in the standings, John Mueller, a Columbus (O.) sharpshooter scoring a 1592 to take over sixth place. The next best on the night's squad was a 1580 by Les Johnson of Skokie, Ill., while Franklin Young of Chicago fired a 1576 for the show award on the shift.

First 13 leaders: Al Pasek, Cicero, Ill., 1648; Frank Kartheiser, Chicago, 1635; Walter Reppenhagen, Detroit, 1620; Alexander Zaboski, Gary, Ind., 1609; Howard Busick, Waukegan, Ill., 6106; John Mueller, Columbus, 1592; Joe Norris, Detroit, 1591; John Stanley, Cleveland, 1590; Chick Schroeder, Chicago, 1590; Harry Ledene Jr., Chicago, 1589; Ed Brosius, Chicago, 1587; Vic Bliss, St. Louis, 1585; Frank Jarecki, Cleveland, 1585.

The challenge match, first championship three-cushion competition since 1942, will be played in four cities. Two blocks of 50 points each will be played here Wednesday through Saturday. November 13 play will shift to St. Louis for three days with remaining blocks to be played in Detroit and Chicago.

"St. Louis Lakes" Duck Factory Is Near Completion

"St. Louis Lakes" duck factory will be on a producing basis next year, according to a telegram received from Tom Main, Canadian head of Ducks Unlimited, by Samuel C. Davis, St. Louis representative of the D. U. organization. The telegram, dated Oct. 4, reads:

"All hands and the cook working on dams, dykes, gates and chutes for St. Louis Lakes. Fortunately weather fine, so far. Start pouring concrete Wednesday on diversion dam. This duck factory looks better every time I see it. It will produce many ducks next year."

The St. Louis Lakes "factory" was made possible by financial aid contributed by the St. Louis Duck Hunters Association.

The money was turned over to Ducks Unlimited (Canada) to provide a key water lake on a proved breeding ground.

The St. Louis Lakes are situated in the southeastern part of Alberta province, just above the Montana state line. They are three in number and will take care of 6000 acres of breeding grounds. They are adjacent to similar factories sponsored by San Francisco, Louisiana, Maryland, Illinois and other community sportsmen, each lake bearing the name of its supporting city or state.

It is expected that the St. Louis project will annually produce more ducks than will be killed by hunters of this area, year after year.

Plan Sports Building.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 7 (AP).—A million dollar sports building, to house ice shows, hockey, fights, indoor track and basketball, is planned by promoters Cliff and Phil Henderson. The building, to be called the Pan-American Sports Plaza, will have a maximum capacity of 15,000.

Stuhldreher Would Teach Nazi Youth U. S. Sports

CHICAGO, Nov. 7 (AP).—Harry S. Stuhldreher, Wisconsin football coach and quarterback of Notre Dame's famed Four Horsemen, proposed yesterday that a full program of American athletics be installed in postwar Europe as a means to a lasting peace.

Stuhldreher, addressing the Chicago Wailing Wall meeting, asserted that a "democratic education" of hate-instilled Nazi youth could best be accomplished by versing them in American sports.

He recommended that senior and junior sports divisions, composed of intercollegiate and interscholastic athletes, respectively, be shipped overseas immediately after the war and drilled by soldier athletes available in an Army of Occupation.

Democratic Way of Thinking.

"Since we probably will have to police the world," Stuhldreher declared, "we can work immeasurably towards a lasting peace at the same time by letting foreign youth grasp our democratic way of thinking on the athletic field."

He suggested that American teams in all types of sports eventually might engage European teams in a regular series of competition similar to the Olympic Games.

"We can talk about educating European youth in every social field there is," he declared. "But the best way to end bloody periodical conflicts is to make youth all over the world think the same way—in terms of sportsmanship and clean competition.

Fight Battles on Saturday.

"If war-minded nations would fight their battles on Saturday afternoons on the athletic field, we'd have none of this confounded war mess."

Stuhldreher, also athletic director at Wisconsin, predicted intercollegiate sports would boom from a standpoint of participation after the war.

Elmer Layden, commissioner of the National Football League, said compulsory physical education, rather than compulsory military training, should be the aim of America after the war.

Quarterbacks to Hear Plans for High Schools Game on Thanksgiving

Plans will be discussed for the Thanksgiving Day high school football game between the Public High League champion and another outstanding team in the district at a meeting of the Quarterbacks Club at Hotel DeSoto tomorrow noon.

Karl Ware, city league manager, will attend and discuss with the Quarterbacks the arrangements to be made before the second club is named. It will probably be selected from a group which includes St. Louis U. High, University City, Normandy and St. Charles.

Big event of the meeting, however, will be the showing of motion pictures of the Notre Dame-Illinois football game of Oct. 28, with comment by Ellis Veech, East St. Louis sports writer who was umpire of the game at Champaign.

St. Louis U. High Back In the Preparatory League

St. Louis University High School is once again a member of the Preparatory League and will resume active participation in the circuit's athletic schedules next fall.

The Junior Billikens had withdrawn from the circuit, after a connection of some 18 years, on Feb. 8, 1943 because of a dispute over eligibility rules, which they protested were more stringent than those of the Missouri State High School Athletic Association.

Last night the school was readmitted by a unanimous vote of the member schools, but the league released a statement before the meeting that the rules were the same as they were when St. Louis U. High withdrew. The Junior Bills naturally agreed to abide by those laws.

The meeting also was marked by the return of Brother Linus Albert of C. B. C., a former league president, who resigned as the school's athletic director a few years ago because of the press of other duties. When Brother Thomas, F. S. C., was transferred from C. B. C. last week, Brother Linus again became the school's athletic head.

Also attending were league president Bro. Gerard Knuth, S. M., of South Side Catholic High; Bro. A. J. Cremer, S. M., of McBride; Brs. Henry Heidemann, S. M., of Central Catholic; Rev. F. J. Connell, S. J., of St. Louis U. High.

They Had Orders

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7 (AP).—A HIGH-RANKING naval officer poked his head into the middies dressing room just before the second half kickoff of the Navy-Notre Dame game at Baltimore on Saturday.

"Look, let's win this one," he said.

"Hey, that's an order," said Commander Oscar E. Hagberg, coach, after the officer left. The Middies won 32-13.

The officer was Adm. Ernest J. King, commander-in-chief of the United States Fleet and Chief of Naval Operations, the Maxwell football club was told yesterday by Ray Swartz, assistant Navy line coach.

Meier Lost to Tiger Team for Rest of Season

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 7 (AP).—Homer Meier, center, will play no more football for the University of Missouri this season, having received a broken arm in the game with Michigan State last Saturday, Coach Chauncey Simpson announced yesterday.

Bill Dellastatious, left halfback, was in the hospital with a torn muscle, probably not available for the trip to Oklahoma City where the Tigers take on the University of Oklahoma Saturday, Simpson said.

Ed Quirk, fullback, who has been idle for weeks with a leg injury, rejoined the squad.

Did Draft Put the Squeeze on Klepper?

THAT wild wail you heard last week after the big league baseball draft emanated from the Pacific Coast. . . . The obviously agonized bleat came from one Bill Klepper, business manager of the Portland club of the Pacific Coast Baseball League. . . . He had just been thrown for a loss of $42,500 (Klepper's estimate), through the workings of the major league draft. The squeeze was so painful Klepper couldn't keep his clapper quiet.

Losing to Washington the league's only 26-game winning pitcher, Marino Pieretti, a 50-grand asset (Klepper appraisal), for a measly $7500 draft price irked the Portland club official. He called on his associates to demand recognition as a third major league and, if denied this, to quit organized baseball and continue as an outlaw league.

Mr. Klepper might as well hand over his club, or even the league and be done with things, if he and his league magnates follow up such a wild suggestion.

There'll be no third major league recognition, because the Pacific Coast circuit is not a major league and has only three cities that could fill major league requirements.

Then, as to turning outlaw—imagine what the major leagues would do to the personnel of an outlaw league. . . . They would lure all the good players away pronto and leave the crushed P. C. league to stew in its own juice. . . . There isn't much chance of a fight developing.

The fact seems to be that Mr. Klepper probably could have prevented his loss by selling this player to the majors for that $50,000 he mentions, provided the player was not 1-A in the selective service draft and provided also that Klepper had started negotiations in time. . . . The Portland club business manager seems to have been caught napping.

The draft system has not worked so badly for the minors in peace times. . . Good material nearly always was disposed of in advance of the baseball draft and at prices which proved, frequently, unreasonably high.

The major leagues have a grievance, too. . . . What about big time club owners having to pay $7500 for draft players who would not be worth half that sum in normal times? . . . That would apply to a goodly number of the players drawn.

If Klepper wants to get sore at anybody, he might try getting sore at himself. . . . From here he seems to be the responsible guy.

Landis' Illness Worries Magnates.

COMMISSIONER LANDIS' illness and advanced years (he'll be 78 next month) are presenting a problem for magnates to discuss at the December baseball meetings in Chicago. . . . A successor may have to be named and finding one of the stature of the "Jedge" isn't going to be easy.

Branch Rickey, the most able man from a baseball viewpoint, no longer is eligible, even if his fellow magnates thought him desirable. . . . He's now part owner of the Brooklyn baseball club.

Other names mentioned have been outside the organized baseball circle. . . . And that's not too desirable. . . . After all Landis, when first chosen, knew his baseball pretty well as a lifelong fan. . . . He also presided in the Federal League's suit against Organized baseball, which was compromised after many months during which Landis, then a Federal Judge, declined to hand down a decision.

Commisisoner Landis still is hospitalized. . . . If he should resign it is believed he will suggest that his executive assistant, Leslie O'Connor, succeed him.

BROTHERHOOD DAYS — Answering a correspondent: The Players League, or "the Brotherhood," as it was widely known, was formed in November, 1889, and took the field in 1890 with eight teams as follows: Pittsburgh, New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, Brooklyn, Buffalo and Cleveland. . . . St. Louis was not represented.

The league was organized largely by the players in protest against the alleged unfairness of the reserve clause. It drew up a schedule and played it out for one year, when it broke up and the fighting National League took over the franchises and players of most of the insurgent groups.

The affair cost millions of dollars, according to reports, during the season it lasted, because the National League changed its schedule to one which would conflict with the new league in whatever cities it was possible to do so.

In the end the Players organization gained nothing, although for one season salaries were enhanced, due to bidding of rival clubs.

CANADA AGREES TO TEMPORARY AIRLINE PACTS

Chicago Air Conference Committee Adopts Provisional Bilateral Treaties Idea.

By JAMES J. STREBIG
Associated Press Aviation Editor.

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—The question of operation of air transport among nations until a permanent agreement can be ratified has taken first place in the International Civil Aviation Conference, with Canada apparently yielding to the United States proposal for provisional bilateral dealings.

Canada's restatement of its position on the transitional period was interpreted by high ranking conference officials as obviously being in the direction of the American view that interested nations work out between themselves agreements on routes for operation during the interim period. Such agreements would be in accord with the ultimate multilateral convention.

This subject stirred a brief debate at the first full meeting of the committee on routes. A second meeting scheduled for yesterday afternoon was called off at the last moment.

In their restatement of position, the Canadians said:

"In order to prevent any delay in arrangements for provisional services, we should be prepared, if the Canadian convention in general were accepted, to have arrangements for the transitional period arrived at separately, so that they might take effect immediately."

This compares to the statement of H. J. Symington of Canada at the first route meeting. He stated that "we take very strongly the position that interim bilateral negotiations will completely preclude what we are all looking for—a permanent convention."

Adolf A. Berle Jr., United States delegation leader, discussing that view along with the expressions of Lord Swinton, United Kingdom delegation chief, said he thought that the difficulty was "in language rather than in thought."

The Canadian statement yesterday appeared to bear that out, particularly in view of the explanation by an important Dominion official that interim bilateral agreements using a standard form complying with convention aims would be entirely satisfactory. Berle suggested a standard interim agreement form, the idea was adopted by the committee and a subcommittee was chosen to develop it.

POLICE CHIEF'S AUTO STOLEN

An automobile owned by Chief of Police Andrew McDonnell of Webster Groves was stolen early yesterday from the Nash Kelvinator Sales Corporation garage, 2323 South Kingshighway.

Burglars apparently had broken into the company's office and rifled desk drawers and a filing cabinet but took nothing of value, James Lewis, sales manager, told police. The garage is at the rear of the office.

MEMBER, MEMBER-FIRM STOCK TRADING TO BE REPORTED

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP).—The Stock Exchange has decided, partly at the suggestion of the Securities and Exchange Commission, to keep closer tab on the market activities of its members.

Such dealings, as apart from brokerage house buying or selling for customers among the general public, normally average about 18 per cent of total transactions, an exchange source said.

Now all such deals must be tabulated chronologically, and reported once a week to the exchange, which will make the information available to the SEC. The weekly reports will cover all transactions by a member or member firm for its own account.

The decision of the exchange to keep its finger closer to the pulse of the market as evidenced by members' activities was called "supplemental" to the specific inquiry made into business on two days late in October, and an earlier check-up.

Weekly reporting of such transactions will be a continuing practice, exchange sources said.

RYE PRICES ARE HIGHER IN TRADING AT WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG, Nov. 7 (AP).—Domestic wheat and coarse grains sales featured trading today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, with nearly 1,000,000 bushels traded during the session.

Eastern feeders took 500,000 bushels of low grade barley and some 100,000 bushels of low grade wheat for grinding, while shippers accumulated 300,000 bushels of oats at the lakehead for anticipated United States sales. In the export market, Eire was the only buyer, taking a small lot of No. 2 northern wheat.

With United States markets closed for election day, trading in rye futures here was dull and dealings confined entirely to locals.

CAMPBELL ESTATE TO PAY $310,000 FEES

Court Also Orders $8473 in Expense Met From $1,620,000 Fund.

Legal fees of $310,000 and expense charges of $8473 will be paid from the Hazlett Kyle Campbell estate to attorneys who represented 121 of the 161 heirs, under a decree issued yesterday by Circuit Judge Eugene J. Sartorius. The fees and expenses will come from the $1,620,000 fund included in the court's order for distribution, out of the $2,000,000 estate. The decree was based on a stipulation reached between contending lawyers, and on the lawyers' contracts with their heirs.

Attorneys W. W. Henderson and Harry Troll, who represented the greater number of the claimants, are dead, and their estates will receive $203,000 of the fee allowed, and $3900 of the expense money. The law firm of Thomas J. McGrath & Sons of Dublin, Ireland, will receive $79,000, of which it will pay 10 per cent, $7900, to John S. Leahy of St. Louis; the McGrath firm's expense allowance is $3605.

Leahy will receive $28,000 from the estate, besides his percentage from the McGrath firm. An expense allowance of $967 was made to Clarence J. Neudeck, who with James A. Henderson, was associated with the Henderson-Troll firm. Jesse E. Bishop also represents the Henderson-Troll interest.

The stipulation, representing a compromise of the conflicting claims of the Henderson-Troll firm and Leahy, was presented to the court by the St. Louis Union Trust Co. and Allen C. Orrick, trustees of the estate. The 161 heirs were named by John J. Nangle, special master in the case, who examined nearly 1100 claims, and the court ordered distribution after collateral issues had been passed on by the State Supreme Court.

A later order will provide for distribution of the approximate $380,000 balance of the estate, and for legal fees to be paid by 40 heirs who were not represented by Henderson-Troll or Leahy.

ST. LOUISAN'S UNIT IN LEYTE INVASION

Lt. J. F. Kallmayer's Tanks Were Among First to Land.

By WILLARD C. HAHN
A War Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WITH U. S. FORCES IN TACLOBAN (Delayed).—Second Lt. Jean F. Kallmayer, St. Louis tank platoon leader, was among the first armored fighters to go ashore on our Leyte beachhead two days ago. Attached to the First Cavalry Division, Kallmayer has five M-4 tans under his command; when interviewed, his unit was storming a hill where Jap machine gun and mortar emplacements were offering stiff resistance to our advance.

"We encountered little resistance when we first got ashore," he said. "We took the airstrip without too much trouble, and then moved inland in support of infantry detachments.

"On the second day I took my platoon ahead of our infantry, in search of our company commander. I dashed ahead of the tanks in a jeep, and when I entered a small town I found myself in the midst of some hot sniper fire and machine gun bursts. I had to draw back a little and wait for the tanks, which blasted a number of running Japs, clearing the way for our advance.

"The Filipinos helped whenever they could; they told us where snipers were hidden and where to approach machine gun and mortar positions. They're wonderful people; they wanted to fight. Some of them carried captured Jap rifles, and others begged us for weapons with which to hunt down snipers.

"During our assault on the hill, I had a Filipino boy as guide; he was a tech-sergeant in the Philippine Constabulary when war broke in the Pacific.

"We can't offer too much praise for our own infantrymen, either; they were marvelous: moving in closely behind us, they wiped out position after position and made First Cavalry's early successes possible."

Lt. Kallmayer, who is 21 years old, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kallmayer, 3825 Humphrey street. He is engaged to Miss Maxine Ott, 3370 Humphrey street, and before entering military service three years ago studied chemical engineering at night at Washington University while employed days in a laboratory at Mallinckrodt Chemical Works.

EAST SIDE CENTRAL TRADES UNION INDORSES NO SLATE

No over-all indorsement of a slate of candidates has been made by the East St. Louis AFL Central Trades and Labor Union, Fern Rauch, executive secretary, said yesterday.

Although the group's legislative committee had recommended to the 62 affiliated local unions a slate indorsing the candidacy of Democratic candidates for national and top state offices, Rauch said only 14 unions submitted any indorsements, not enough to commit the central body.

The central organization urged re-election of President Roosevelt.

FLYER MATES GAVE UP GETS BACK TO CARRIER

St. Louisan Lands Badly Burned and Damaged Ship Amid Cheers.

(Picture in Everyday Magazine.)

When the burning plane of Lt. Roger F. Noyes, bomber pilot from St. Louis, was seen to drop out of formation during action against the Japanese fleet in the Philippine naval battle, his fellow flyers reported him lost in action. However, a few minutes later his plane, badly scorched and damaged by shell fire, appeared over the carrier and made a difficult landing to the cheers of the crew, an Associated Press dispatch reported today.

Lt. Noyes, 25 years old, is the son of Dr. and Mrs. O. W. Noyes, 6232 Southwood avenue, and the husband of Mrs. Mary Noyes who lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Maack at 116 East Swon avenue, Webster Groves. A former student at Washington University, Lt. Noyes entered the service in 1940 and went overseas last February.

Lt. Joseph Vasquez, former St. Louis soccer player, captured three Germans while serving with the infantry in the area of the Siegfried line, he has written his mother, Mrs. H. Carreno, 7009 Pennsylvania avenue.

Tech. Sgt. Florian F. Schmidt of University City was one of a group of ground mechanics with the air force who made it possible for land-based fighter planes to be in action over Leyte in the Philippines within a week of the invasion by helping engineer detachments build landing ramps for LST boats carrying air force equipment, it was said today in an Associated Press dispatch.

Trained to maintain P-38 Lightning fighters, the men filled sandbags and worked waist deep in water to build the ramps, then helped construct landing strips and control towers for the planes. Schmidt is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Schmidt, 6808 Corbitt avenue.

BOY ACCIDENTALLY FIRES RIFLE, WOUNDING HIMSELF

Martin Winklemeyer Jr., 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Winklemeyer, 4030 Lowen drive, Normandy, shot and seriously wounded himself yesterday in the kitchen of his home, when he accidentally discharged a .22 caliber rifle with which he had planned to shoot hawks. He was taken to DePaul Hospital where his condition was described as fair today. The bullet entered his head just below the right eye.

The youth, absent from Normandy High School yesterday because of a slight illness, was found on the kitchen floor of the home by Sgt. John Wimmbauer, Westwood, N. J., who came to visit the Winklemeyers, who were not at home at the time. Young Winklemeyer, was attired in hunting boots, hunting jacket and cap.

NEW YORKERS URGED TO VOTE, GIVE BLOOD TO RED CROSS

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP).—The New York Red Cross blood donor service today appealed to voters to donate a pint of their blood for the armed services—after casting their ballots.

Col. Earle Boothe, director of the service, asid the blood donor centers would be open from 10 a. m. to 8 p. m.

Unless a substantial number of volunteer donors appear today, the daily quota of blood and plasma to be sent overseas will not be obtained, he said.

FREE MEALS TO NEEDY PUPILS CUT MORE THAN HALF IN '44

A decrease in the number of free meals served to indigent public elementary school pupils from 59,888 in 1942-1943 to 29,787 this year was noted in the annual report of Supply Commissioner A. K. Nushan to the Board of Education.

In his report, submitted yesterday to the board's Auditing and Supply Committee, Nushan said the decrease was attributable to a higher rate of employment among parents and the fact that some of the children worked after school hours. Lunches, which cost 15 cents, are given to pupils unable to pay.

Nushan also reported the school bookbindery repaired and rebound 53,663 books for a total cost of $10,106, and estimated that a similar number of new books would have cost $46,692.

POLICE FIRE AT AUTO BELIEVED TO CARRY 4 ESCAPED SOLDIERS

Police fired nine shots last night in front of Police Headquarters at a fleeing automobile believed to have contained four soldiers who escaped an hour earlier from the Jefferson Barracks rehabilitation center by climbing a fence.

Patrolmen Lee Dickson and Vincent O'Hara stopped the car at Twelfth street and Clark avenue after it violated a stop sign, but when they sought to question the four occupants, it sped away. The automobile, later identified as one stolen from Jefferson Barracks, was found abandoned in an alley behind the 800 block of North Third street with several bullet holes in it.

The prisoners who escaped from the Barracks about 9:30 o'clock are Robert Taft, Joseph Manning, Robert Weinholdt and Washington Brown, Negro.

QUISLING TURNS OVER FULL POWERS TO PUPPET MINISTER

LONDON, Nov. 7 (AP).—Maj. Vidkun Quisling, apparently seeking means of easing Allied retribution for his crimes, has relegated full dictatorial powers to Jonas Lie, Norwegian puppet minister of police, and secluded himself in his $360,000 "Berchtesgaden" retreat near Oslo.

A Norwegian Government spokesman disclosed that Quisling had signed a decree giving Lie unlimited power to maintain public order. Lie's new position is similar to that held by Himmler in Germany.

Norwegian sources here give Quisling little chance of escaping the country. They believe he will die at the hands of patriots.

In Case You Got One

Here's the Way to Cook Your Venison

By Arthur Deute

IF you have ever heard someone say—"Venison? Oh, no, I can't abide it! It's much too dry and tough"—you'll know they have been mistreated. For venison, properly prepared, is the sweetest, tenderest, juiciest meat in the world.

The secret of making old venison melt in your mouth according to the great Escoffier, is the strict adherence to three initial steps in its preparation—the hanging, the marinade and the larding. For very young deer, the hanging time may be reduced and the marinade omitted—but the larding, never. If you have a friendly butcher, ask him not only to hang the meat for you—he'll advise you as to the length of time—but also, when dressing it, to lard it as well.

ESCOFFIER'S RECIPE for marinating the older venison is simple. The meat is salted, peppered and then laid in a large deep bowl on a bed of chopped carrots and onions, mixed with chopped shallots, parsley stalks, a bay leaf and thyme in proportion. Over meat and all goes a copious dose of good olive oil and then one-half as much vinegar is added. The dish is covered with oiled paper and the whole set away in a cool place. The meat must be turned three or four times a day, covering it well with a layer of vegetables each time. Cutlets need only a day in the marinade; a large saddle or haunch may well stay for two days.

A SADDLE OF VENISON is a lovely party dish. If the butcher has larded it prettily for you or you have done it yourself all down the length, with slivers of salt pork tucked in crosswise, you will have a professional looking roast that is fit for a king. Roast the saddle in a shallow pan on its bed of marinade vegetables about 10 minutes to the pound. Baste it frequently with mixed red wine and water to which melted butter has been added. Do not cook it beyond the rare stage.

WHEN THE ROAST IS done, take it from the pan, add some of the juice of the marinade to the juices and vegetables in the pan and cook it until it is almost entirely reduced. Clear it of all grease, add to it half a pint of cream and a powdered juniper berry (if you can get it), reduce again to one third, stir and strain through a sieve and serve in a sauceboat with the venison.

IF IT'S A HAUNCH of venison you're coping with, treat it the same as the saddle as far as the marinade goes. Lard it liberally and before cooking, wrap the hoof in thick slices of fat salt pork to keep it from changing color. Baste the roast, lying on its marinade vegetables, the same as you did the saddle. When the meat is half done, turn it over to cook on the other side. Before it is served, unwrap the hoof and collar it with paper frill. The same sauce may be used or you may prefer currant jelly melted down with butter, red wine and a dash of madeira.

Of course, if the venison is young, as we said before, it will not need the marinade and can be roasted with pan drippings only as you would any other roast.

VENISON CUTLETS, are, to my way of thinking, the best of all. And so easy to do. Take the cutlets, marinated or not, and salt and pepper them lightly. Have ready a heavy iron skillet, piping hot, and sear the cutlets for a second or two on each side. Then pour into the skillet a mixture of a glass of currant jelly melted with a lump of butter, two glasses of fine red wine, a glass of dry sherry and a little salt and pepper. Let the cutlets cook in this until just rare, remove them from the pan, reduce the sauce slightly and serve with the cutlets.

WITH ANY CUT OF venison real game lovers prefer wild rice or large hominy, steamed and dressed with butter, braised stalks of celery and perhaps green beans. In Europe, it is usually accompanied with a kind of sauerkraut made of red cabbage, and dressed with wine.

Venison is a rich meat, so any dinner of which it is to be the main course should be selected accordingly. But don't let any one tell you again that venison is "tough and dry." 'Tain't so!

BROADWAY

Newspaperman Stuff

MANY years ago an American President made a speech. The following comments are typical of some newspapers' reactions to that address. . . A Springfield paper: "The President merely showed he is a Simple Simon" . . . A Boston gazette: "The President was ludicrous" . . . A Pennsylvania rag: "We pass over the silly remarks of the President; for the credit of the nation. We are willing that the veil of oblivion should be dropped over them" . . . A Chicago organ: "He perverted history, misstated the cause for which Americans died and with ignorant rudeness insulted the memory of the dead."

The President's name: Lincoln. The speech: Gettysburg Address.

JAMES GORDON BENNETT, the famed editor, detested ostentation. He particularly abhorred guests who came to his home and displayed their jewelry. . . . Bennett showed up the show-offs by having his servants wear a priceless collection of gems he borrowed from a jeweler—the next time his guests visited him.

OGDEN NASH WAS once taken to task for using the word "coyful" in one of his verses . . . "Have you ever heard of anything being full of coy?" asked a critic.

"No," nash'd Nash. "But neither did I ever hear of anyone being full of bash."

FROM FPA'S NEW BOOK, "Nods and Becks": Of course, there are many who say that a daily columnist, which means a person who has six or seven full columns a week in a paper, doesn't really work, but that he would like other laborers to work six days a week for the period of the so-called—properly so-called—emergency . . . We know not what course others may take, but we never have been able to do it under a seven-day week, and some nights. Often we dream of Jeanie with the unfilled column. We dream that we have three minutes in which to write a column, have it set, read proof and make it up. It would be pleasant to work five eight-hour days a week. To quit, in the middle of a syllable, if need be, when the whistle blew! And then some days, as if mere writing weren't enough trouble, there is a lot of clipping and pasting to do. It sounds easy, but it takes longer to find the shears and the paste for first-class stuff than it does to write third—all right, we won't argue—fourth-class stuff.

JOURNALISTIC HISTORY is filled with pungent examples of aisle-sitters' literary arsenic. But we doubt if any critic ever turned out a more volcanic comment than this review of a lady singer: "She had the appearance of a sergeant-major in the guards, and her voice did nothing to dispel that illusion. Her adoption of the concert platform must have been a distinct loss to the coal trade. As to her execution, it was a pity there was no way of bringing it about. The whole thing was stunning. Her low notes were like the rumbling of Vesuvius when about to erupt, and her high notes the shrieks of a wild motor bus calling to its mate."

G. B. SHAW IS NOW in his eighty-eighth year, but time hasn't dulled the vigor of his mind. Today his pen is as spry as ever . . . Shaw's latest tome has just been published, and it has sparked a great deal of controversy among book critics, as usual . . . If anyone desires to know what Shaw thinks about his journalistic critics, this is what he wrote many years ago: "People who read what other folk say about me are revolted by my callousness—the average journalist's word for the irritating way in which I keep my head while the rest of mankind are losing theirs. Thus, everyone who doesn't know me firmly believes me to be quite the most unpleasant person alive; and as a consequence all I have to do with people who meet me for the first time is to be just reasonably polite, in order to convey an impression of superhuman charm."

HORACE GREELEY was a crusader who never pulled his punches. When advisers urged him to tone down his blasts because he was making enemies by offending influential people, Greeley snapped: "I have made many enemies, but I have made even more friends. After all, I have as my friends all the enemies of my enemies."

IN THE OLD WORLD office, callers, generally on jury duty in the neighborhood, would drop in . . . One of these called on Deems Taylor in his cubby-hole.

"Well," said the caller, "how's music?"

"Dandy," said Mr. Taylor. "How's boredom?"

Social Problems

By Emily Post

THE SITUATION of a young widower who seems to be looking forward to a happier future, is described in the following letter:

"A young relative has been a widower for a little over a year now—he has three children, twins aged five and a daughter of two years. His mother has been taking care of the twins but is not well and the baby is with her maternal grandmother. The father would like the family to be together even though they are being well taken care of separately. The father has now met a young woman, and it was love soon after sight. She is willing to take over this responsibility and marry him any time that may be done with proper respect. Which is where you come in—to tell us how soon they might be married? Also, the father has asked me to find out what his children should call their new mother?"

Inasmuch as his wife died more than a year ago, they may be married any time now without fear of criticism. If her first name adapts itself, "Mama-Mary" or "Mama-Lou" is very popular. Or they might follow the present custom of calling stepmothers "Nana" or any name that is not the one they called their own mother.

DEAR MRS. POST: I have read of a silver wedding anniversary being celebrated by repeating the marriage ceremony and all the original preparations as far as possible. Does this mean that the bride wears her wedding dress (if she can get into it) and that if her attendants are living and able, that they walk up the aisle ahead of her (in their bridesmaids dresses) and that the "groom" has his best man waiting with him up front? Would the bride walk in with her father? And where do the children of this "bride" and "groom" come in? This whole thing is much too much for me to comprehend, if the account to which I refer above is to be taken literally.

Answer: While this repetition of the wedding service is not unheard of, it is certainly not usual and has no accepted formulary further than that which the bride and groom may themselves devise and the clergyman approve.

Economical Menus For Tomorrow

By Meta Given

AS a rule it is dangerous to brag about anything, but we feel safe in saying we have developed the best possible method for cooking pumpkin for pie. It is quick, and easy, and produces a concentrated puree with fine flavor and color. Choose the best pie pumpkin you can lay your hands on. The big "horsey" ones are sometimes good, but most often they contain more starch and less sugar than the smaller sweet pie pumpkins. Wash the pumpkin, saw it in half from stem to stern. Leaving the seeds in, rub the cut surfaces with margarine or some sweet flavored shortening and lay cut side down on a shallow bakingsheet. Bake in a moderately hot oven (400 degrees F) until tender. Baking upside down holds in the steam and prevents a crust forming. The largest of pie pumpkins should not require longer than 45 minutes. The seeds and attached fiber are removed carefully with a tablespoon. Then the soft flesh clear down to the pumpkin shell is removed and put through a ricer or a puree sieve. The puree is now ready for mixing the pie fillings. If you want that good, old-time flavor cook the pumpkin puree and stir constantly until the pumpkin dries out and slightly caramelizes. Grandma called it "scorching" the pumpkin.

BREAKFAST — Chilled grapefruit halves, scrambled eggs, sweet rolls.

Top Stove Limas With Wieners.

Lima beans are better flavored and of finer appearance when simmered rather than boiled. Simmering takes much less water, turn the heat low enough so there is just a lazy bubble in the kettle. Soak one and one-half cups lima beans three or four hours. Drain, barely cover with fresh water and simmer gently until tender, about 30 minutes. Add one teaspoon salt and dash of pepper (black or red). Panfry one-fourth pound bacon and one-half pound split wieners. Add bacon fat to beans, mix, and serve topped with bacon and wieners.

DINNER

Salmon betty (or other canned fish), parsley potatoes, creamed fresh peas, beet and onion salad, crustry rolls, pumpkin chiffon pie.

Pumpkin Chiffon Pie.

This pie is not baked and its flavor improves with a little time for seasoning, so prepare it early. Soften one tablespoon gelatine in one-fourth cup cold water. Mix one cup canned or home prepared pumpkin, two egg yolks, one-half cup top milk, and one-half cup sugar and cook over direct heat until mixture boils up. Place over boiling water and add gelatine, stir until dissolved. Add one-half teaspoon grated orange rind, one-fourth cup orange juice, one-half teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon ginger (optional), one teaspoon cinnamon, dash of allspice and blend. Beat two egg whites until stiff with one-fourth cup sugar and fold into hot mixture. Pour into ginger cookie crust. Chill four or five hours in refrigerator.

Today's menus require six red points for salmon. Serve milk to drink: Four cups for each child, two cups for each adult.

Slow Death for Love

By Elsie Robinson

I HEARD a man once say—"If I ever divorce Sue, it will be because she insists that I eat mush each morning for breakfast.

"I detest mush—haven't touched the stuff in 15 years and .Sue knows it. Yet daily we go through the same old battle. I suppose it's petty to let a thing like that get you down. There are other things in marriage which are so much more important. Yet it's just such little things as this quarrel over mush that really kill romance. Gradually marriage becomes a process of slow death by pin pricks."

"Death by pin pricks"—there's a phrase that hits most of us where we live. How often those constant pin pricks have driven you yourself into a blind rage. And nearly always for such a petty reason. Martha likes candles at the dinner table. You don't. Candles to you, are sissy stuff. You pride yourself on being a he-man. It seems such a silly reason for a squabble—for the first two or three times—but when it happens night after night, it begins to feel like a dentist's drill.

"It isn't just the candles that I mind," you mutter to yourself. "It's the principle of the thing. She's got no right to nag me like that. Maybe I'm prejudiced, to dislike candles so much. But a fellow has a right to his prejudices . . . and the fact that we're married doesn't give her the right to poke and pry into every corner of my life."

Looks silly, when you put things down in black and white like that. Makes you feel pretty cheap. And yet—you're right. Even if the subject over which you're squabbling is trivial, the principle behind it isn't. You have a right to your likes and dislikes. It's one of the most profound privileges in your whole existence and the other fellow should be bound to respect it. Just as you should be bound to keep your nose out of his intimate prerogatives.

There's your own nightly brawl with Jim, for example. Jim likes to smoke while he browses through the evening newspaper. You don't like smoking in the house. Mother never let your father do it. If Jim really loved you he wouldn't want to smell up the house like that after you work so hard to keep things clean and sweet. Yet nothing you say stops him. But you never give up hope. Every night you take it up where you left off the last time. Every night you make a furious stand to defend your rights and he, as indignantly, defends his.

And each time you do it you chip away, bit by bit, the priceless treasure that was once the foundation of your love.

Why do we do things like this—not only in marriage but in friendship as well, in all those commonplace relationships which make life so warm and companionable? Why do we kill each other with pin pricks? Do we do it deliberately with a morbid desire to hurt and maim? Sometimes. There are, occasionally, queer warped creatures who find a perverted delight in making others suffer. But usually we're unconscious of our real motive. We simply long for power or excitement and our normal lives give us scant opportunity for either. So we take it out in—pin pricks. Sue insists on that morning mush. . . . Jim lights that evening pipe. Neither one really wants to start a row but it riles them up to feel that "they haven't the right to call their souls their own."

Little things. But little things make heaven. And little things make hell. You can dope it out for yourself.

Your Stars -o- By Marion Drew

WHAT TO EXPECT TOMORROW
Sun in Scorpio.

General Tendencies—Take good care of your correspondence tomorrow, be careful not to mislay records or important notes. This entire week is full of opportunities for temporary misunderstanding and small incidents which arouse biting speech and an undue amount of resentment. Late in the evening, conditions should become settled, the mental attitude being more orderly.

If Tomorrow Is Your Birthday.

Most of the new events in your life for the next year are apt to take place because of the influence of friends or superiors in work. Do not try to rush these matters; your best interval will begin after March 15, 1945. During next month, and probably through most of January, there are many delays or oppositions lurking about the very places where you want to see the greatest results. This does not seem like a romantic year for you, by the way.

Tomorrow's Watchword.

Men and women often think they are keeping important actions secret, getting away with something and that no one suspects. The French writer, Montaigne, said in connection with this, "There is no one but yourself who knows whether you are cowardly and cruel, or loyal and devout. Others see not so much your nature as your appearance." He then went on with the famous old proverb, "Few men have been admired by their valets." Maybe there is not so much hidden after all!

FINED ON GAME FISH CHARGE

Walter W. Coughlin and George J. Smith, both of Batchtown, Ill., were fined $100 and $25 respectively, after pleading guilty to charges of illegal possession and transportation of game fish yesterday before Judge Louis Comerford of the Court of Criminal Correction.

They were arrested Oct. 25 near Eads Bridge at the request of Missouri State Game Agent Lou Ellebrecht, who said he had followed them from South St. Louis after they brought the fish from Illinois in a truck with the intention of selling them. At the time of their arrest Smith and Coughlin had in their possession 363 pounds of crappie and 10 pounds of blue gills.

My OPINION

By MARTHA CARR

Dear Martha Carr:

I AM a widow and have been introduced to a very fine man. He has a nice home in the country, a good job and a savings account. He says his daughter with whom he stays wants him to get married, so a friend introduced him to me. He works nights, but has Saturdays and Sundays off all day. He tells my friend he likes me and thinks I'm a fine woman, but never once has he suggested we go to a show or for a drive. I can't understand this. Each of us has been widowed one year. I had the best man in the world, was married to him 35 years and miss him terribly. I feel so lonely and would be glad to marry again, just such a man as this widower. We both have grown children. I know other nice men but this particular one is the only one who appeals to me. What can I do to make him speak up and tell me how he feels? I long for a home again. E. L.

Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer all questions of general interest, but of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an addressed and stamped envelope for personal reply.

You will just have to be patient, I'm afraid, and wait till this widower realizes that you are the woman for him. After all you haven't known him very long, and it is only a year since he lost his wife. It may be he is the kind who does not get over his grief quickly. You are making pretty good progress in that he comes to see you, thinks you a fine woman. Be content with that for the present and don't try to rush matters. Show that you can be a congenial companion, are a comfortable person to be with and the chances are the widower will ask you to marry him before too long. Don't allow your loneliness, your desire to once more have a home cause you to rush into marriage with someone who might prove most unsuitable on longer acquaintance.

Dear Martha Carr:

I AM A VETERAN of this war. Before I went into the service I dated a certain girl, but we broke up on my first leave. On my second leave I found she had been dating other fellows, one in particular but she and I dated most of the time I was home. When I was discharged we were going along fine until she moved, then we sorta fell away from each other but another fellow and she saw each other regularly. Now she says she thinks maybe she'll marry him, yet she fusses because he comes to see her only once each week. I am going to G. I. School right now and have no job, which means I haven't much cash to spend on dates. There are two other girls who seem to like me a lot, but the girl I went with before I went into the service is the girl for me. Her brother tells me she still has a little light burning for me too. What shall I do? EX-GOB.

It is possible the girl friend said she might marry the other fellow mainly just to make you jealous and wake you up, since you have not been seeing her very often lately. You have been friends with her a long time and it seems to me that you could explain matters to her frankly. Let her know you are going to school in order to be able to make a good living, and that much time is now taken up with study. Tell her that you have little to spend and so have hesitated to take up her time, but that if she enjoys your company as you do hers, perhaps she would let you come when you can, even though you can't afford to take her expensive places. If she really cares for you and knows you aren't really stingy, she will not care whether you do nothing but take a walk through the park and get a coke. If you really love the girl, however, you will be generous enough to leave her free and exact no promises till the time comes when you are both sufficiently mature for marriage and you are financially able to shoulder its responsibilities.

CASE RECORDS

By Dr. George W. Crane

CASE E-204: Judy, aged 9¾ years, is our only daughter. A few days ago she came home and told her mother she had heard a couple of jokes. But she apparently sensed that they were somewhat risque, for she waited till her mother was alone with her in the bedroom before she repeated her stories. After Judy had finished, her mother asked where she had heard them. "Oh, Peggy told me," she replied. "She heard her mother tell them at a party one night." "Well, you musn't repeat such stories," Mrs. Crane admonished Judy. "They aren't nice stories. Besides, if you tell such things, when you grow up the boys will not like you." "So I better just let them go in one ear and out the other, huh?" Judy nodded understandingly. "That's right," said her mother.

I HAVE CREATED this recent episode from our house to show you how salaciousness permeates even the better schools. Please notice, too, that children not yet 10 years of age are passing such information around. You prudish old folks who think I am rushing things by urging sane, scientific sex education for school pupils, apparently are out of contact with modern America and don't realize what is going on today. You can't protect your child entirely from such stories, for too many parents are just like Peggy's mother. They tell vulgar stories at parties, where they think their youngsters can't understand. They forget that "little pitchers have big ears," as the old saying goes.

I HAVE HEARD OTHER children on numerous occasions recount such vulgar tales, but when I tactfully questioned the story teller, I found that he or she didn't fully comprehend the significance of what was being told. The children had heard their parents laugh loudly, however, so they memorized the same story and thought it must be funny, even though they missed the point of the tale. But not all children miss the point. Besides, they get the unfortunate idea that such vulgarity must be humorous. Thus, they begin to pay more and more attention to such so-called jokes. Peggy's mother would probably be horrified if she knew that her daughter is passing such vulgarity around the classrooms in our school and citing her mother as the authority for the stories. But Peggy's mother should be horrified.

Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 3c stamped, addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing or printing costs when you seek personal advice or one of his psychological charts.

The Doctor On Habit of Biting Nails

By Logan Clendening, M. D.

IT is very flattering to have people ask you how to stop a child from biting its nails, as if you had the answers to such questions in your vest pocket and could cure Johnnie, or Susia, of this habit when Father, Mother, Uncle Jim, Grandma and the neighbor lady had nearly driven themselves crazy for years trying by threats, tears, persuasion, appeals and everything that has ever been suggested to stop it. It seems a very little insignificant thing to balk the medical profession, but they are just about as helpless as anyone else in the presence of this habit.

In fact the only scientific inquiry into the subject known to me was made by a school teacher. He noticed early in his career when he was assigned to a grade school situated in the melting pot section of a large city that while in general the cleanliness of the hands of most of his pupils left something to be desired a few had beautiful clean fingertips. He soon found why. They were accustomed to put them in their mouths, either for sucking or nail biting purposes. Making a count of them he found that the number who did this was about 40 per cent of the class. The girls were slightly more numerous than the boys.

BEING, AS HE SAYS, as naive as the next person he first asked them politely to refrain from doing so. Needless to say this made no improvement at all. He had conversations with them. None of them knew why they did it. Most of them admitted it was a bad habit, and they all wished they could stop. But they didn't.

As years went on he got a new class every year, but in spite of the fact that the pupils changed, the habit was found to be present just the same in the same proportions of new pupils.

In short, it is a habit. And "a habit is not a trifle," according to Plato Montaigne who said, habit is second nature, and the Duke of Wellington saw him and raised him and said, habit is 10 times nature. Since the habit is ingrained in 40 per cent of children of primary school age the responsibility for stopping it rests on parents who can get it in its very incipiency. It probably becomes established almost in the cradle. Psychiatrists may tell you that it is an imitation of the suckling reflex, but that doesn't help much. The fact remains it is a habit and must be broken up early if it is to be broken up at all.

AN OLD WELL-ESTABLISHED remedy was to put quinine, or something bitter on the ends of the fingers. The school teacher to whom I have referred got the consent of most of the parents to try this and he put a saturated aqueous solution of quassia on the ends of the fingers. The children were given this treatment until they had stopped biting the nails for one week. After this period had gone by most of the pupils had been conditioned to give up the habit. But if after the third day's application was made no improvement was noted, it was found best not to persist as continuation only made the habit more stable.

The teacher was afterwards advanced to a high school and continued his studies. He found that about 30 percent of his pupils were active nail biters, and about 35 per cent reported that they had once been but gave it up. In the higher grades the percentage still further decreased, so it may be assumed that with the social pressures of adult life the habit does decline almost to the vanishing point. Most of the high school pupils said they did it only under excitement. An exciting movie would start them.

The Women Behind the Trombones

They're Making Musical History for the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra

By Arthur W. Hepner

THE St. Louis Symphony Orchestra is making history this season with the presence, in the brass section, of two feminine trombonists—the first time that a major symphony orchestra has taken to the stage with two of its three trombone players in skirts.

First trombone is being played by Miss Dorothy Ziegler, and second trombone by Mrs. Flori Lorr, both of whom are required to spend a good deal of time explaining to people why they happened to take up the trombone, an instrument seldom associated with women musicians.

It so happens that neither of them plays the trombone exclusively, Miss Ziegler being an accomplished pianist and Mrs. Lorr a trained singer.

In Miss Ziegler's case it was circumstance that led her to take up the trombone. Her father was a bandmaster at Muscatine, Iowa, and when Dorothy was 8 years old he organized a band for girls and since none of the girls seemed to want to try the trombone, he asked Dorothy to take the job.

As she puts it: "We had to have a trombone player, and there I was." She adds that she also learned to play the French horn, barytone and bassoon, but always returned to the trombone. But she has never, she says, deserted the piano.

Mrs. Lorr, on the other hand, came from a long line of trombonists—the fourth generation in her family, to be exact. Her grandfather played tenor trombone with the Russian Symphony Orchestra in New York at the turn of the century; her father played with the New York Orchestra at Carnegie Hall 10 years ago, and she has played at Carnegie Hall with the New York Women's Symphony Orchestra.

This is Miss Ziegler's second post with a major orchestra. Last year, after she graduated from the Eastman School of Music at Rochester, N. Y., she played with the National Symphony Orchestra at Washington. Incidentally, in 1940 she toured Latin America as principal trombone with Leopold Stokowski and the All-America Youth Orchestra.

MRS. FLORI LORR, LEFT, SECOND TROMBONIST, AND MISS DOROTHY ZIEGLER, FIRST TROMBONIST.

Her engagement here is Mrs. Lorr's first appearance with a major orchestra. The two trombonists, incidentally, had played together before in two concerts, with the Women's Symphony Orchestra in Montreal.

The life of a feminine trombonist is not without its difficulties, both women will readily testify. Unfortunately, says Miss Ziegler, it had to take a tragedy like a war to convince conductors that women can fill orchestral jobs as well as men. After the war, she says, it will be up to the women to keep the conductors convinced of this. Only two orchestras, the Boston Symphony and the New York Philharmonic-Symphony, still refuse to employ women musicians.

Both Miss Ziegler and Mrs. Lorr feel that women should be judged on the same basis as men, that they should be accepted as musicians and not as novelties in the orchestra. But they also agreed that being a housewife and a mother might affect, to some extent, their careers as musicians. Mrs. Lorr is the wife of Ralph Lorr, the new bassoon player in the orchestra, and the mother of two young boys.

In one respect, at least, the feminine trombone player has an advantage over the masculine trombonist, the women point out. That advantage lies in lipstick, which keeps the lips from becoming chapped, one of the chief occupational hazards of wind instrument players.

ON the other side of the ledger, they are subject to a great deal of jibing from people who seem to find something incongruous or amusing in the sight of a woman playing the slip horn.

There was the dowager, for instance, at a tea in Washington, who approached Miss Ziegler with the remark: "My dear, that certainly isn't a very feminine instrument you play."

The most frequent remark they encounter, and one of which they are getting a little tired, comes from people who, after having heard them play, say, "I've always wanted to see a woman play a trombone."

Miss Ziegler believes, however, that the time will come when there will be no question of the suitability of any instrument to feminine musicians. High school bands, she thinks, are doing much to destroy prejudice against wind instruments for girls, and many girls are taking up instruments which formerly were consigned strictly to the boys.

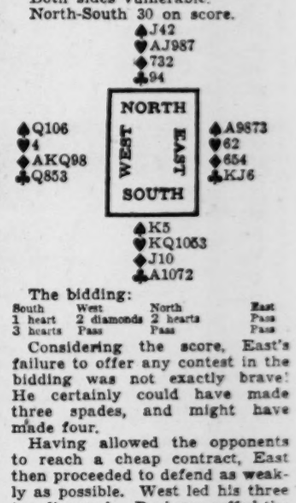
While both women enjoy playing the trombone and enjoy their work with the orchestra, they are secretly looking forward to the day when they can give a concert in Kiel Auditorium—but not with trombones. They want to give a piano and voice recital, to offset, perhaps, the stigma of the slide trombones.

Contract Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

IT is hard to say whether East's bidding in today's deal was worse than his play, or vice versa.

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.
North-South 30 on score.



The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	2 diamonds	2 hearts	Pass
3 hearts	Pass	Pass	Pass

Considering the score, East's failure to offer any contest in the bidding was not exactly brave! He certainly could have made three spades, and might have made four.

Having allowed the opponents to reach a cheap contract, East then proceeded to defend as weakly as possible. West led his three top diamonds. Declarer ruffed the third round, cashed the club ace and led a low club. East won with the jack and naively laid down the spade ace, "to see what his partner would play on the trick." Unfortunately, it didn't matter what West played—the declarer could claim the balance.

The right play for East, after winning the club trick, was a low spade. As a matter of fact, East should have taken the club trick with the king, not the jack. Then, having shown declarer that high card, it would have been more persuasive to lead the low spade, i. e., since East had not bid and West had, declarer probably would have placed the spade ace in West's hand and would have ducked East's lead in the hope that he was playing from the queen.

My Day -o- By Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK, Monday.

MR. AND MRS. HARRY BRANDT joined us for lunch yesterday. Since Mrs. Brandt could not come here earlier in the summer, she had her first glimpse of the President's library, in which both she and her husband seemed much interested. All the young aviators visiting us seemed to like ship models and the curious collection of things in what is called the oddities room, so everyone had an enjoyable time.

We spent most of the day in the open air yesterday, walking to the top of the hill, seeing the President's cottage, and having tea around an open fire in the living room at my cottage. Everyone looked cold as he came in. Even the President and Admirals Leahy and McIntire looked as though the country air was snappier than anything they had been experiencing except in driving through New England. They had had long, official talks, but everyone was relaxed and chatty before the open fire over the tea.

One of the aviators kept remarking, "this is like a real Sunday at home," and then he added: "I haven't been home yet, but I talked to my family several times and now they just begin to make sense. At first, we couldn't think of what to say."

Great emotion is seldom very well expressed in words, and this boy is very close to his family. He has been away two years, and his brother is out in the Pacific. It must be a rather frustrating emotional experience for parents to be suddenly called on the telephone when they have had no inkling that their boy might return, and not be able to have him come immediately because he has work to do.

I enjoyed every minute of yesterday, and was very glad to watch them all drink milk and eat the things which had not been on their diet list during the long months abroad. The open air and exercise made everyone sleepy, and by 10 o'clock one after the other had gone up to bed. They greeted me this morning saying they had had the best sleep they had enjoyed in months.

I saw them off at the train, and look forward to seeing them all again in Washington before they go back overseas.

I do not know whether you are a devotee as I am of Bonaro Overstreet's poems, but there are five lines in yesterday's poems that I do not want to forget. They are:

"I do not ask of any man alive
That he know all the answers. I only ask
A great caring—an honest and humble caring
About what happens to human beings and their hopes,
And that I ask of myself as much as another."

Creamed Finnan Haddie

One and a half pounds finnan haddie, two tablespoons margarine, two tablespoons flour, one and a half cups milk, toast triangles, one fourth cup grated cheese, one tablespoon minced parsley, and paprika.

If fish is heavily smoked, place in cold water, bring slowly to the boiling point, then drain. Cover with boiling water and simmer gently 15 minutes. (If fish is only midly smoked, omit first procedure). Flake the fish. Melt margarine in saucepan. Remove from stove and blend in flour. Return to stove, add milk and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Season with salt and pepper. Add finnan haddie, mix, and pour over toast triangles. Sprinkle cheese and parsley over all. Decorate with paprika and serve.

a Home Recipe for GRAY HAIR

Here is an easy way to re-color gray hair—to give it a touch of youth, beauty, luster—to take years off your looks. For a real professional looking hair tinting job at home try the recipe below.

Get from your druggist one ounce bay rum, one-fourth ounce glycerine, one box Barbo Compound. Mix in half pint of water, or your druggist will mix for you at small cost. Simply comb into the hair as directed. A rich, natural-looking color is imparted to gray, faded, streaked hair. This color is easily maintained; will not wash out, rub off, or affect permanents. Does not stain the scalp; is not sticky or greasy and makes the hair look soft and glossy. Try the money-saving Barbo recipe and see how much younger you will look.
